

U.S. TO PUT DEFENSE PLAN INTO EXECUTION

IMPREGNABILITY OF THIS NATION IS NOW CERTAIN

Pershing Perfects Plan to Safeguard Nation in Case of Attack

TO BE USED SOON

Barbed Wire Barricade
Laid Down in Surf Said
Practical

Washington, June 25.—A plan for American mobilization and defense has been perfected by General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the army, which "assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination," it was learned here today.

This plan, approved by Secretary of War Weeks, will be ready to be put into execution with the completion of this summer's training of national guardsmen and civilians at the summer camps.

General Pershing's defense project provides for complete protection of the American coasts and border frontiers, and there is no possible landing point or line of advance that has been overlooked.

Each of the divisions of the regular army, each of the national guard regiments, together with certain special units of the organized reserve, has been assigned to the defense of specific sectors of the coast and border lines; transportation conditions have been studied carefully in order that there will be no delay in rushing the troops to their positions, and every eventuality has been met in detailed manner.

One of the most unique features of the Pershing plan is in connection with the coastal defense. It is planned, and has been proven practical, to lay down a barbed wire barricade in the surf to assist in the repulsion and confusion of attempted landing parties. Should it become necessary, a wire entanglement similar to those employed on the battle fields of France could be thrown up around virtually the entire country.

"With such initial organization assured," General Pershing explained, "the additional military units required for the full prosecution of a serious war can be mobilized at once and brought to full strength without disturbance or interruption. With our territory thus protected against landings in force at the start and with the machinery for further military expansion fully organized, our fleet will be free to deal with the hostile naval forces without concern as to possible invasion."

Behind this first line of defense, Pershing plans to mobilize and train the "citizen army" which is now receiving instruction in the summer camps the rudiments of soldiering.

"We shall thus be able to deliberately develop our military power to any necessary extent without risk of serious disaster through surprise at the outbreak of the war," he said, "and without the necessity of maintaining a burdensome military establishment in time of peace. Such a military organization causes no menace to any other nation, but assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination."

Need for such an establishment was demonstrated strikingly during the World War, General Pershing declared.

NERVY WOMAN ROUTS TRIO OF BANDITS IN KENTUCKY INN

Cincinnati, O., June 25.—One nervy woman yesterday routed three men who tried to hold up the Kentucky Inn, a road house a mile from Newport, Ky.

Of fifteen persons in the place, she alone retained composure. The trio of invaders entered with drawn automatics, commanding all to lift their hands. Miss Pearl Hageman, cashier of the inn, was behind a counter on which rested the cash register. She was ordered to open it and turn the contents over to the leader of the bandits.

Instead of leaping to comply she moved slowly toward the register. This wasted time of the trio and made the bandits nervous. When she reached the drawer she concealed the money in her clothing, defiantly glaring at the pistol pointed at her.

This unexpected move unnerved the bandits, one of whom fired a shot at the bartender, who also was behind the counter. The realizing that the shot would bring help to the cashier, the trio fled, escaping in a car.

Only a small sum was in the register, Miss Hageman said.

U. S. DRY AGENTS ARE FACED WITH SECOND PROBLEM

Five "Wet" Foreign Liners
Dock in New York With
Liquor Stores

"MEDICINAL SUPPLIES"

Vessels Claim Booze Not Beverage—Officials to Seize Stocks.

Washington, June 25.—To expedite the seizure of beverage liquor being brought into New York and other American ports in violation of the national prohibition act, officers of the United States Public Health service today received orders to obtain sworn statements from commanders of ships as to the medicinal liquor requirements of their respective countries.

These new instructions were required according to Dr. Mark White, acting surgeon general of the public health service, because of difficulties, especially at New York, of prescribing the exact amount of liquor stores which vessels may retain for medicinal purposes.

New York, June 25.—Dry forces faced a new problem today as five "wet" foreign liners, their stocks of whiskey, wine, gin and beer under homelander seals, docked here. Four of the five listed the vast stores of liquor aboard as "additional medicinal supplies."

The White Star liner Cedrio, the Cunarder Caronia, the Conte Verde of the Lloyd-Sabaudo line, and the French liner Providence, carried over 10,000 gallons of wine, 15,000 bottles of beer, 400 gallons of whiskey, and an assortment of 400 bottles of liquors.

The French liner Paris which docked Saturday, had the greatest amount on board—10,000 gallons of various liquors. This was listed as "beverage supply" and was admittedly for consumption by passengers on the return trip.

Customs officials, prohibition agents and the surgeon general's force will seize at least part of this supply today, it was announced. The same action as taken against the Berengaria and the Baltic, raided by dry agents Saturday, will be followed.

But in the case of the other ships, listing their sealed supply as "additional medicinal stores," the prohibition officers were admittedly puzzled. No action was to be taken, it was stated, until instructions were received from Washington.

London, June 25.—The seizure of liquor on two British ships in New York has dwarfed in interest everything else here.

The "safe and sane" newspapers, like the Daily News, insists that the crisis regarding rum can only become serious, if it unfortunately does, through unnecessary and unwise talk. But even the News admits that the problem is not simple as a real conflict of rights is involved. The News adds: "The taking into America of forbidden liquor under the valueless protection of British seals is really so dangerous it should be minimized immediately, as it is always on frontiers that wars begin."

Former Premier Lloyd George, in a speech before the Welsh Baptists here, said:

"I hope we will be able to keep cool over the question of the seizure of liquor from our ships in New York, in which matter America is entirely within her rights. We ought to extend our sympathy to America. She is fighting one of the greatest curses of civilization. Such an experiment as she is making has never before been attempted on this earth. We should give her a fair chance to solve this urgent problem of the world."

"One of America's chief difficulties is presented by the enormous quantities of liquor which is being poured surreptitiously into the country from Europe. There is no doubt that big fortunes are being made out of smuggling drink into the United States. The Americans are a great and courageous people. Let us not interfere with them. If they succeed they will earn the gratitude of the world."

"I felt bound to make these remarks because I have noticed in the press signs of heat in connection with the matter. I do not say that America's experiment will succeed. It is quite possible that the United States will modify the law if it finds it necessary, but do not let us interfere with America in enforcing a law passed by a greater majority than was given to almost any other law passed by any country. I have only discussed this question to help counteract the mischief which some people are trying to make."

CARS GO THROUGH A TRESTLE.

L. A. BOULAY TO FOLLOW HERRICK IN HIGHWAY JOB

Toledo Engineer Named By Governor to Fill State
Position July 1

WORLD WAR VETERAN

New Highway Director
Will Move to Columbus
When Duties Begin

Columbus, O., June 25.—L. A. Boulay, 45, consulting president of the Boulay-Harrison Company, Toledo, has been appointed state director of highways and public works by Governor Donahue to succeed Leon C. Herrick, Republican holdover incumbent, effective July 1.

Mr. Boulay is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World Wars, holding the rank of captain of engineers in the last war. He has been actively engaged in engineering for 25 years and has had practical experience in the Philippines, China, Mexico and Cuba. He has been located in Toledo since 1907, and for the past six years has been head of his own firm of consulting civil and sanitary engineers.

Mr. Boulay took a two-year course in engineering at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., dropping his studies before graduation to enter the Spanish-American war.

The new highway director is married, and will move to Columbus when he assumes his duties.

Seizure of British Ships'
Liquor Stores

London, June 25.—"The British government does not see any grounds for protest against the breaking of British customs seals upon liquor taken into American ports on English ships," Premier Stanley Baldwin announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

"The acts were legal within United States territorial waters."

PROHIBITION HAS COME TO STAY SAYS HARDING IN DENVER SPEECH

THE PRESIDENT ON PROHIBITION

Denver, Colo., June 25.—Here are the high lights in President Harding's remarks here today on the prohibition situation:

They are a small and mistaken minority who believe the eighteenth amendment will ever be repealed.

The country and the nation will not allow the law of the land to be made a byword. It is not an issue between wets and dries but an issue whether the laws of this country can and will be enforced.

It is a curious illustration of loose thinking that some have proposed as a means of protecting states rights that the states should abandon their part in enforcing the prohibition policy.

When a state deliberately refuses the powers which the constitution confers on it, it obviously nullifies state authority.

The new nullificationists will discover that they have perpetrated one of the historic blunders in political management.

Universal prohibition would occasion far less discontent than partial prohibition. Neither of the parties will see the time in the lives of any who are now voting citizens when it will declare openly for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The question is kept in politics because of the almost fanatical urgency of the minority of extremists on both sides.

PRESIDENT IN FORCEFUL TALK ATTACKS ISSUE

Chief Executive Wades Into Question Monday With out Gloves

NO WET PLANK

Replies in Hot Manner to Governor Al Smith of New York

Denver, Colo., June 25.—President Harding waded into the prohibition situation without gloves here today and in by far the most forceful speech he has ever delivered on this controversial subject, he declared that prohibition in the United States has come to stay, that people might as well make up their minds to it and that it is up to the individual states and local authorities to enforce it.

If the states fail in this moral and constitutional duty to the federal government, he warned, then the government, at great expense will be compelled to create a national police authority that in the end will severely injure state sovereignty and eventually menace the well being of the republic.

SERVES NOTICE.

Moreover he served notice on the wets within his own party that there would be no wet plank in the Republican platform next year and he predicted also that there will be none in the Democratic platform.

"I venture to predict," said Mr. Harding, "that neither of the great parties will see the time, within the lives of any who are now voting citizens, when it will declare openly for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. I am convinced, too, that whatever changes may be made (in the Volstead law) will represent the sincere purpose of effective enforcement," rather than moderation of the general policy."

The President replied in hot fashion to Governor Al Smith of New York, whose approval of the repeal state enforcement law in New York, was based primarily upon the sovereign rights of an individual state to co-operate with the government or not as it chose.

Instead of upholding state rights, Mr. Harding declared, such action represented "complete negation of state rights."

LOOSE THINKING.

"It is a curious illustration of loose thinking," said the President, mentioning no names, "that some people have proposed as a means to protecting the fullest rights of the states, that the states should abandon their part in enforcing prohibition."

"That means simply an invitation to the federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the state."

"Instead of being an assertion of state rights, it is an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it doesn't choose to govern itself, but prefer to turn the task or a considerable part of it to federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights."

DENIES CONTENTION.

President Harding flatly denied the contention advanced by Governor Smith and a few other state executives, that responsibility for enforcing the Volstead law rests with Washington.

"The fact is quite the contrary," Mr. Harding asserted. "The federal government is not equipped with the instrumentalities to make enforcement locally effective. It does not maintain either a police or a judicial establishment adequate or designed for such a task."

The federal government ought to perform only those functions in connection with enforcements which are within its proper province, the president said. He enumerated the duties of the federal government as: supervising international commerce, importation and exportation of liquors, collection of federal revenue and prevention of smuggling. But the business of local enforcement, he insisted, belongs to the state and local authorities and should be executed by them in the same sincerity and good faith that all other laws are enforced.

SUPPORT OF POLICY.

The national policy ought to be supported by public opinion and the administrative machinery of the whole country," he continued.

"The country and the nation will not permit the law of the land to become a byword."

"The issue is fast becoming recognized," he went on, "not as an issue between wets and dries, not a question between those who believe in prohibition and those who do not; a contention between those who drink and those who do not; it is fast becoming raised above all that, to recognition of an issue of whether the laws of this country can and will be enforced."

FAMOUS ILLUSTRATOR SECRETLY MARRIED

A few years ago an unknown young woman came out of the West and in a few months was America's foremost illustrator—Miss Neyssa Moran McMe. Everyone thought the comely young artist was wedded to her art, and it was the occasion of a distinct surprise when it was learned she had secretly married John D. Baragwanath, a New York consulting engineer, and gone to Europe on her honeymoon—alone, to be followed later by her husband.

LIVE WIRE KILLS COLUMBUS MAN

Columbus, O., June 25.—Charles Chapman, 21, was instantly killed late last night when he stepped on the end of a live wire that had blown down earlier in the evening during a severe storm.

Chapman had been calling on his fiancée, Miss Maxine Goodwin, 19, to talk over plans for their wedding, which was to have been today. As he was leaving, he noticed a tiny fire a few feet away. He stepped over to stamp it out. A moment later he was dead.

STAGE GUN BATTLE ON STATE HIGHWAY

Cleveland, June 25.—A thrilling 50-mile-an-hour gun battle between motor cycle cops and alleged Cleveland gun men on the crowded Lorain-Elyria road resulted in three arrests today.

Clarence Lane, 23, wounded three times, John Delmissar, 23, and Howard Lane, 26, are in custody.

The trio were suspected of auto theft. Overhauled, the officer, it was charged was fired on. A passing tourist opened fire on the motorcycle policeman's assailants.

They escaped but were taken later.

LAD OF THREE KILLED.

Cleveland, June 25.—Swerving his machine from the middle of the street and over the curb in an effort to make a boy playing in the street, a truck driver ran over and killed Henry Westlake, 3, who was standing on the sidewalk in front of his home.

ENCAMPMENT OF G. A. R. TO OPEN MONDAY NIGHT

Registration of 2,000 Veterans Occupying Attention During the Day

Columbus, June 25.—Members of the Ohio Grand Army and auxiliary organizations are here for their annual encampment. Unveiling of the peace memorial in the state house yard tomorrow will be a feature of the week.

General Gaylor M. Saltzger, department commander of the Ohio Grand Army, will present the monument to Governor Donahue, who will accept it in behalf of the state.

The pageant "Memories" will be staged on the west steps of the state house at 8 p. m. tomorrow. A concert will open the performance.

Registration today of the 2,000 veterans is occupying the attention of the committees in charge of the event.

The Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the ladies of the G. A. R. and the Daughters of Veterans, kindred organizations, are holding concurrent conventions with the old veterans.

Their delegates are expected to bring the total of visitors here during the week, to approximately 10,000.

PLAN ERECTION OF $100,000 ALUMNI HALL AT ANTIOCH

Preliminary plans for the erection of the new $100,000 Alumni Hall, at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, were announced by President Arthur E. Morgan, presiding at a meeting of the board of trustees of the college, Saturday afternoon. President Morgan gave a short address, and reported that $15,000 for financing the new building, had already been raised, and that the additional amount will be obtained by an alumni campaign.

"The alumni association, which is sponsoring the erection of the new building, is not anxious for so many large sums, but desires many smaller contributions, from many people, interested in the college," President Morgan said.

John H. Hunt, of the General Motors Corporation, Moraine City division was elected a member of the board of trustees, during the meeting. He will succeed Frank Vanderlip, of New York, who resigned his membership on account of ill health. Mr. Vanderlip had been a member of the board for the past two years.

Among the trustees in attendance at the meeting were Jerome Green, New York; Henry Dennison, Framingham, Mass.; S. C. Caldwell, Columbus; Frank Stutz, J. C. Haswell, William Christ, of Dayton; George Little, Xenia; J. Warren Keifer, Springfield; William Dawson, Yellow Springs; and President Morgan.

Edwin Day, a New York member of the board, was unable to attend the meeting, as he was the principal speaker at the annual Phi Beta Kappa fraternity ceremonies at Columbia University, Saturday.

MRS. OSCAR NAGLEY DIES ON SUNDAY

Estella Florence Nagley, wife of Oscar Nagley, died at her home, 327 East Third Street, Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Death was caused by tuberculosis.

Mrs. Nagley would have been 33 years of age, July 8. She had been ill since September 1922.

Surviving are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumaster, Xenia; one sister, Mrs. Alma Marshall, near Xenia, and five brothers, all of Dayton.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, in charge of the Rev. G. A. Scott, pastor of the First M. E. Church. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

His Confession Solves Mysterious Murder

Charles W. Clepper, of Los Angeles has confessed the murder of Frank W. Bradley, whose bullet-riddled body was taken to the Police Receiving Hospital there by C. W. Dickson, of Fresno, California. Clepper declared he fired in self defense.

CAPTURES CROCODILE WITH HANDS

Karl P. Schmidt

Attacked by a voracious crocodile, more than five feet in length, Karl P. Schmidt, of the Zoological Staff of the Field Museum, at Chicago, captured the monster with his hands on a recent expedition to Honduras. The man-eater caught Schmidt off guard, but the latter remembered an old trick and thrust one thumb and index finger into the monster's eyes, holding him in that way until his shouts brought assistance. Schmidt confessed later that he could not have held out much longer.

flavored and sweet-juice vegetables such as peas, carrots, beets, greens and asparagus. They need no sauces.

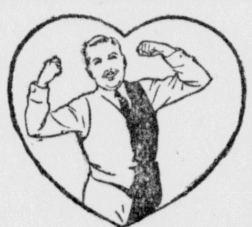

The White-Fleshed Fish, however, need rich butter and oil sauces to make them tempting. The best known of this variety are the flounder, pike, cod, hake, turbot, perch, pollack, striped bass; red snapper, haddock, halibut and whitefish. These are called "lean" and "dry-meated" fish, and they have their fat secreted in the liver. All strong-juiced or acid-flavored vegetables are suitable to serve with them—such as tomatoes, onions, cucumber, green pepper, dandelion greens and calves.

Of course these suggestions are not fixed dietetic laws. If you wish to serve one of the milder flavored vegetables with a white-fleshed fish, you can supply the acid or piquant flavor with a fruit salad or fruit dessert.

Dr. Marion Lawrance Given Degree of Ll. D. By Antioch

Dr. Marion Lawrance of Chicago, consulting general secretary of the International Sunday School Association, a former Yellow Springs resident and former Antioch College student was the recipient Saturday of the first honorary degree conferred by that College since the introduction of the new plan of education there.

At commencement exercises Saturday morning, when 18 students were given their degrees, President Arthur A. Morgan, conferred the first honorary degree of LLD upon Dr. Lawrance. He is an internationally known Sunday school worker, a former teacher as well as former student at Antioch, and was for more than 20 years general secretary of the International Sunday School Association until his retirement on full pay in 1920.

DR. MARION LAWRENCE

Dr. Lawrance was born in Gratis, Preble County, Ohio, October 2, 1859, the son of Elonson Lawrance who moved his family to Yellow Springs in January 1854 the year after Antioch had been started by Horace Mann. Mr. Lawrance came there to open the college book store. The building was then in its infancy and Mr. Lawrance was forced to move shocks of wheat in a field to build his home. This building, a two story brick residence, still stands at Davis and High streets in Yellow Springs.

Six sons and two daughters composed the family. Four of the older boys served in the Civil War and five of them attended the college, although only one, William, graduated. Marion Lawrance attended the public schools of the village and graduated from the high school under Captain William Shaw. He attended Antioch, preparatory and college department four years and during that time taught various classes including arithmetic, grammar and Latin in order to pay his tuition. He was forced to give up his college work because of failing health.

When he became of age, Mr. Law-

rance entered business in Syracuse, N. Y., where he remained for two years. He removed to Toledo in 1887 and continued in business for a time. Becoming interested in Sunday School work he became the superintendent of a successful Sunday School in Toledo and held the position for 31 years. During that time the school increased from 150 to about 1,500 in membership. Dr. Lawrance was called to be general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association in 1889 and held the position ten years. In 1899 he was made general secretary of the International Sunday School Association covering North America. He held this position until 1920 when he was retired for life on full salary to the position of consulting general secretary and a younger man, Dr. Hugh S. Magill, was selected in his place. From 1910 to 14, Dr. Lawrance was also one of the secretaries of the World's Association in conjunction with his work in North America.

Dr. Lawrance has been a world traveler, having visited repeatedly every state in the union, every province in Canada, Cuba, Mexico, New Foundland and Alaska. He has also attended World's Conventions in London, Jerusalem, Rome, Zurich and Tokio and is expected to attend the next World's convention in Scotland, next June. He is the author of a number of books on Sunday School work that have had wide circulation.

The Ideal Paige Is Your Ideal Car!

The new, six-cylinder, 70-horsepower Paige for 1923 is incomparably beautiful, powerful and well-appointed. Bodies are creations of ultra-fine coachwork; doubly braced; ruggedly and dependably built. Not a piece of imitation leather anywhere. Rich in the small touches of big appeal. Commodious to an extreme. Throughout the car are superior chassis features hitherto exclusive to European custom practice.

In performance the ideal Paige equals every expectation. Reserve power makes you master of every situation. Swing from 2 to 70 miles per hour in high gear. Laugh at traffic. In emergency, shift gears swiftly as your hand can move: you cannot "jerk" or "clash," however inexperienced. Drop from high to second at 30 miles per hour, if you wish.

A new automatic take-up for silent motor driving chains postpones adjustment indefinitely. New-type, all-steel universal joints have oil-tight, sealed-in lubrication, good for 15,000 miles. High-pressure oiling insures an ever-silent, sweet-running motor.

The new Paige is thoughtfully outfitted for utter convenience—nothing to buy but fuel and oil. Read the equipment listed at left of illustration. All instruments grouped under glass panel on walnut dash. Walnut steering wheel with finger controls. Complete from stop-light to tire-pump. Don't fail to see the Paige for yourself.

Both Paige and Jewett are breaking all previous sales-records. They are doing it on sheer extra value and merit. Come in and see the time before you buy, and rest your case on facts of performance!

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT: DETAILS OF SERVICE FRIDAY.

Handsomely engraved announcements have been received in this city, reading as follows: "Dr. and Mrs. Lester Luke Taylor, announce the marriage of their daughter, to Ensign James Merle Ross, U. S. N., on Friday, June twenty-second, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, 2129 Fairbridge Street, Philadelphia."

Bernice

The marriage of Miss Taylor, of Yellow Springs, to Ensign Ross, of the U. S. S. "Preston," a son of Mrs. N. A. Ross, of North Galloway Street, this city, was solemnized in a very pretty ceremony, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. Gordon McLennan, in Philadelphia, Friday.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. McLennan was most artistically decorated with a profusion of palms and flowers.

The bride was charmingly gowned and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom and his brother officers were attired in the white uniform of the United States Navy, adding a touch of romance to the service.

Greg's Wedding March was played by Miss Carrie Quig, the organist of Bethany Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. MacLennan, a brother-in-law of the bride.

A sumptuous wedding supper was served after which Ensign and Mrs. Ross left for New York. They will spend their honeymoon visiting points of interest on the Hudson. Immediately after their return they will leave for Newport, Rhode Island, where Ensign Ross will be stationed at the Naval Torpedo School.

The gifts received by the young couple were numerous and beautiful, among which was a chest of silver, the gift of the Class of 1922, at the Annapolis Naval Academy, of which Ensign Ross was a member.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. L. L. Taylor, of Yellow Springs, mother of the bride; Mrs. N. A. Ross, of this city, mother of the bridegroom; and Miss Lenora LaRoss, a classmate of the bride at the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. O. E. Bradford of this city, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has accepted an appointment to serve on the department committee for the Natural Resources Production Department of the United States Chamber of Commerce for the coming year.

Mrs. Martin Collins and Mrs. Harold Bryson, will leave Tuesday morning for Freeport, Pennsylvania, to attend the wedding of Miss Janice Downie, and Mr. Walter Fulton, of Columbus, Ohio. Miss Downie is the granddaughter of Mrs. Collins, and has many friends in Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lemons, of Cedarville, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lemons, and family, of Washington C. H.; and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Floyd, of Dayton; Dr. and Mrs. Barnes, and Mr. Wilbur Lemons, of Cedarville, at dinner, Sunday.

Miss Mildred Wright, teacher in the High School at Evanston, Illinois, is enjoying a ten days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Poague Wright, of West Third Street.

Says Congress Will Pass Compensation Bill

Senator H. C. Bursum.

Senator Holm C. Bursum, Republican, who succeeded Senator Albert Fall as one of New Mexico's representatives in the Senate, has predicted the enactment of the billion-dollar adjusted compensation bill. He has announced that the bonus fight in behalf of America's one million World War veterans will be waged from a new angle—that of legality. Bursum, chairman of the Senate pension committee, declared that America contracted a "legal obligation" by forcing its soldiers to pay their own insurance and in requiring forced allotments during the war and cited State compensation acts in support of his contention. President Harding will sign, it is certain.

ATTENDANT AT MARRIAGE

Miss Hester Jane Hicks, of this city, will be bridesmaid at the marriage of Miss Hazel McQuillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. McQuillan, of Overlook avenue, Cincinnati, to Mr. Harold Ashley White, of Indianapolis, Indiana, June 26. The marriage will be performed at St. Xavier's Church, Cincinnati.

Miss Lillie McCoy, returned home Saturday after a three weeks' visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy, of Minneapolis, and with relatives in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and Miss McCoy spent a week at the Delles of the Wisconsin River, located at Kilbourn, Wis.

Mrs. Josie Hahn and son, Arthur Hahn, of Marion, Indiana, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clifford, of South Galloway Street, returned to their home, Sunday.

Mrs. Paul Spahr and daughter Lucile, from Denver, Colorado, are visiting Mrs. A. N. Spahr, of the Messenger apartments.

Prize for Best Film Play Is Offered

Adolph Zukor.

The writer of the "best picture of the year" for a number of years will be rewarded by a check for $10,000, the gift of Adolph Zukor, film magnate, the latter announced at the International Congress of Motion Picture Arts, in New York. A jury composed of members of the Authors' League will judge all efforts. Good taste, fair play and a respect for law are among the requisites of the "best photoplay," Zukor said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gagnon, Miss Marie Middleton, Messrs. Irvin Rider and Austin Conner, spent the week end at Russell's Point.

Mrs. Pearl Forsythe has received word of the birth of a daughter to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ford McClung, of Lexington, Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. McClung have one son, eleven years of age.

Mrs. Ann R. Cummings and daughter, Carrie, of Mount Tabor, spent several days during the past week in Columbus, with their son and brother, Clarence W. Cummings. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Cummings' grandchildren, Belle and Earl Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Laybourn and two sons of Springfield are to leave Tuesday morning on a motor trip through the East. They plan to spend a longer time in Washington D. C. than any other one place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Greenwell entertained twenty-one relatives from Cincinnati, Sunday in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Spriggs, of Washington Street, is severely ill with intestinal trouble.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our neighbors, relatives and friends for the kindness extended during the illness and at the time of the death of Mrs. Anna Patton, also to the members of the Moose and Eagle lodges for their helpfulness and to Mr. Need for his services. The family.

WOMAN LAWYER HEADS ARCTIC EXPEDITION

Miss Victoria Lowden.

Miss Victoria Lowden, a prominent Boston (Massachusetts) attorney, is Secretary of the Donald MacMillan Arctic Expedition and is in charge of all the work preliminary to the sailing of the Bowdoin from Wiscasset, Maine, on June 23. Her only regret is that she will not be permitted to take the long voyage into the frozen North with the explorers and scientists.

KELLY KORDS WIN ANOTHER.

The Kelly Kords continued their winning streak in the Industrial League by taking Saturday's game at Reserve Park at the expense of the H. and A. Commercial. The score was 7 to 2.

Milburn pitched for the twinmakers and got away good with the exception of two bad innings when bunched hitting put him in hot water from which he was never able to extricate himself. In the mean time the machinists piled up three runs in the first and four in the second and while they were unable to tally after that, the lead was sufficient to ice the contest.

Dick Bennington whirled carefully for the Kords. The Commercial hammered in one run off his delivery in the initial stanza, and repeated this performance in the third, but were kept from scoring thereafter. The score:

Kelly Kords ... 3 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 7
Commercials ... 1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 2
Batteries—Kords—Bennington and Randall; Commercials—Milburn and Murrell.

Hobart Students Out For Hazing Riots

Two members of the senior class at Hobart College, Geneva, New York, were expelled by President Murray Bartlett and Dean W. P. Duree at the beginning of commencement exercises there. Degrees were withheld from three others for a period of three months. The students are alleged to have been implicated in the hazing and rioting which turned Geneva into a bedlam early this month. Lloyd Hyde, of New York City, was severely beaten and hurled down a fifty foot embankment into Seneca Lake. Lawrence H. Laughrey and Theodore C. Knowles football star, both of New York, were those expelled.

FIVE ARE DEAD AND DOZENS ARE PROSTRATED BY HEAT IN EAST

High Humidity in New York Takes Toll Monday—Mercury Climbs at Rate of Three Degrees In Every Hour

New York, June 25—Five persons died and dozens prostrated as the heat wave returned to the New York territory today. A high humidity made the temperature of 82 at ten a. m. seem many degrees higher. One man dropped dead after drinking a glass of ice water; another hanged himself; one man was killed when he rolled off a roof where he was sleeping; two men went swimming to cool off, were drowned. The thermometer was climbing at the rate of three degrees an hour.

LADY ASTOR OPPOSES IDEA OF WOMAN-GOVERNED WORLD.

"I can conceive of nothing worse than a man-governed world—except a woman-governed world," said Lady Astor, the first woman to sit in the Mother of Parliaments, in epitomizing the part which women should play in public affairs.

Here is no feminist—that is, no advocate of petticoat rule. American by birth and English by adoption, Lady Astor's position among the public women of the world is absolutely unique. There is no other woman just like her in England and one would search in vain among the women in public life in the United States to find her counterpart. Nor does her personality suggest her origin in Virginia, where she was one of the famous Langhorne sisters. She seems to be like no one except herself.

But she is all-American and her Americanisms often make her English sisters gasp. Nevertheless her quick wit and sharp retorts have helped her out of more than one difficult situation, particularly in her election campaigns when her meetings have been packed with hostile hecklers.

"Say, Lady Astor, how many toes has a pig?" shouted one of these hecklers in a packed meeting down in Plymouth last fall. "Take off your shoes and I'll tell you," was the reply which her interrogator received.

"You ought to be home with your hands in the washtub, same as my wife," said another heckler, hands in his pockets, and very conspicuous.

"Take your hands out of your pockets and go to work and your wife can take her hands out of the washtub," retorted the fraill, little woman on the platform.

There is character, conscience and common sense back of every position Lady Astor takes in English politics. She cherishes no notion that women should rule the British Empire, but she does feel that women can co-operate more actively in public affairs.

"First of all," she said, talking about the need of women in politics, "there is the fact that we find ourselves in a rather lopsided world, considerably overbalanced on the man's side. We have, therefore, to work for the political, economic and social equality of men and women, for equal opportunities and equal pay, for equal rights as parents, for equal status before the law, and so on. Many women have given devoted service to those objects, and I feel that all of us owe a great debt of gratitude to them."

ALASKA BY RAIL.

The last spikes are being driven in the railway from Seward to Fairbanks in Alaska. The line is nearly 500 miles long, and it pierces the heart of the great Northland, whose future looks brighter today than at any previous time in its history. Passengers this summer will be carried "peacefully sleeping and unaware" where the pioneers traveled and men gave their lives to the ever-beckoning lure of gold and furs at "the back of beyond." Little will the newcomer in the land know of the struggle of those primitive days. But at least he can carry back to civilization a truthful impression of what he has seen.

Alaska is about to have the most distinguished "tourist" the territory has entertained, in the person of the President. His findings are of the utmost importance to that sustained and systematic development which Governor Bone with such clear, persuasive eloquence has urged. Elaborate entertainment is far less important than an opportunity for the President to go to the bottom of things and to see for himself. It is high time for our great country to adopt a policy broad and big enough to be worthy of our magnificent possessions in sub-Arctic America. The manifest destiny of our mainland is intimately concerned in what we do with Alaska.

ETNA.

The alarming outbreak of Mount Etna, which has expelled thousands of villagers from the homes and the vineyards whence they wrested a living from the flank of the volcano, has offered the world a fine example of human sympathy and fraternal co-operation. Instead of running about in frantic circles with outcries of impotent despair, the folk of the region have taken in hand systematically the administration of relief to the horde of refugees.

The dwellers on the slopes of Etna know well, from historic experience, the precarious terms of their tenure of the rich lands below the rim of that great ebullient cauldron. That does not make eviction any more tolerable when it comes. The margin is very narrow between subsistence and absolute destitution for many of the hard-working, thrifty and self-respectful people of Sicily; and in a few hours the fire-mountain can destroy the fruits of a lifetime of unremitting toil.

But after the harsh experience social history will repeat itself. As the French farmers gradually found their way back to their own hectares and reaped again where war had sowed the dragon's teeth, even so the Sicilians will pluckily resume the struggle for existence almost before the grotesque, infernal writhing of the lava flow is stilled. In the unending warfare of man with nature the last word is not, as it seems, with the inscrutable, impersonal forces.

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The Neff park at Yellow Springs was crowded Sunday to hear "Little Elsie" the famous impersonator of characters. Other attractions every Sunday are scheduled for the park until the season closes.

Hon. E. S. Kelly of Yellow Springs, has received from Europe a four-horse tallyho coach. It will carry about 20 people and is a beauty.

Mr. J. F. Orr today received a message from Washington, D.

C., informing him of his appointment to be the next postmaster of Xenia.

Mr. Michael Kearney, formerly of the Xenia Shoe factory, who has been spending some time in Chicago and the Northwest, returned to Xenia a day or two ago.

There is no "boom" in Xenia business lines, but a steady increase in our manufacturing industries indicates a degree of prosperity never before attained by the good old place.

OIL THE SCALP

If when you massage the scalp vigorously, a small amount of minute white flakes fall from the hair you may be sure you have dandruff. The flakes are often so fine as to be almost invisible and a good way to tell is to shake the hair over a piece of black paper, which will clearly show up whatever falls. In the early dandruff stage, the hair will be normal but later it will become too greasy, and still later, too dry. Start curing dandruff before either of these catastrophes occur.

You must oil the scalp. It is the only way I know to rid yourself of dandruff and to keep it away. Of course, certain far-gone or stubborn cases may require special antiseptic ointments, or strong measures. Some recommend covering the scalp with a solution containing iodine. Some use carbolic, mixed with other things, but these treatments are only to be given by experts. Try nothing yourself that you do not understand.

In any case, try home-done oil treatments; if after a few months there is no improvement, then go to an expert. But, first of all, buy some crude oil at a drug store or a paint shop—thick black, refined oil. Heat it as hot as your scalp will stand and massage a lot of it in thoroughly. Next day, shampoo with liquid castile soap and quantities of hot water until the oil is washed out. Repeat this process every three weeks.

Meantime, rub a very little olive or castor oil into the scalp every day or so. Never mind the greasy appearance of the hair. You must sacrifice fluffiness for a few weeks. The sacrifice is more than worth while. After the second crude oil shampoo, use olive or castor oil twice a week; after the third time, once a week until cured.

Virginia M.—No dye can give a permanent color as the hair begins throwing it off at once and the newly forming hair, as it grows out from the roots, will always be the natural shade.

E. A. S.—An effective bleach which is not irritating to the skin is the juice of the cucumber; when you get this included in a healing lotion it is a perfect combination.

Lonesome—Never treat a mole on the face yourself. Consult your doctor. Brush the brows together so they form into as narrow a line as you can make, but do not try to thin them out.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

THE GAZETTE And THE REPUBLICAN Information Box

All questions asked by our readers will be answered in this column. Medical and legal subjects are barred. Address all queries to "Information," this paper.

B. L. T.—The term "To Curry Favor" meaning to seek the good graces of another by flattery or other means, has its origin in the "currying" of a horse. "Favel" was at one time a general name for a horse. This common name was derived from the French "faveau" the color of chestnut. Originally, "to curry Favel" well, was the groom's sure means of earning the praise and approbation of the master. The theory has also been advanced that the word "Favel" itself have been corrupted into "favor" by a later generation which no longer understood its real meaning.

BIRDLIVER—That haven of refuge for birds you ask about we believe to be the Birdcraft Sanctuary, a tract of ten acres presented to the Connecticut Audubon Society as a bird refuge. It consists of a cat-proof fence set well inside a picturesque old wall.

SMOKER—In 1922, the world bought 12,000,000,000 American-made cigarettes, and over 80 countries were supplied.

T. L. T.—Thomson's "The Castle of Indolence" contains the lines you ask for:

A pleasing land of drowsy-eyed it was,
Of dreams that wave before the half-shut eye;
And of gay castles in the clouds that pass,
Forever flushing round a summer sky;
There eke the soft delights that witchingly
Instill a wanton sweetness through the breast,
And the calm pleasures always hover'd nigh;
But whate'er smacked of noyance and unrest
Was far, far off expelled from this delicious nest.

PROHIB—An ordinary half-pint bottle of soft drink contains usually about from 4 to 9 of an ounce of sugar, or about two heaped teaspoonsful.

DELTA—I think we quoted these lines before. They are from Browning's "Apparent Failure" and ran thus:

It's wiser being good than bad;
It's safer being meek than fierce,
It's better being sane than mad.
My own hope is, a sun will pierce
The thickest cloud earth ever stretched;
That, after last returned the first,
Tough a wide compass round be fetched;
That what began can't end worst,
Nor what God blessed once prove accursed.

INQUISITIVE—The phrase "To Cross the Rubicon" meaning to take an important action in such a way as not to be able to retrace your steps, refers to the Rubicon, a narrow river which in ancient times formed the border line between Italy and the province of Gaul. When in the course of Caesar's campaigns, after long hesitation, and after having been advised against it by some of his generals, he nevertheless crossed the Rubicon into Italy, he became a "public enemy," and this event, made his long-cherished plans of conquest known to the world.

Today's Talk

GETTING THINGS FOR NOTHING

The more one has done for him the less is he capable of doing for himself.

The boy who works in his youth will work in his manhood. The more civilized society becomes the less independent it is. That is one of the penalties of civilization.

In the olden days—before there were many doctors and dentists around, people had strong teeth and they digested their food because they chewed it. But with the oncoming of easy cooking has come easy eating—and hurried eating.

The hardy pioneer asked odds of no one. His intrepid spirit knew no failure. He asked the price of success and achievement—and then he paid it—many times with his very life.

This is a favored age. We are getting things for nothing. We have books in readable type. We turn a button, or push one, and light floods our room. We step into a compartment and there is our motor car. We press a button there and in a few moments we are on our way to work miles away—arriving in a few minutes of time. We cross the continent and the ocean in a few days. Our towns and cities are made light and conveniences are on every hand. There are few of the beauties of the world which are not free to us. We start out life itself with an abundance of wealth. But we have so much more if we have had privilege of being born under circumstances where there have those to teach and train our eyes to see the things which are ours nothing.

Our fondest treasures are those that have come to us through the expenditure of much money. You cannot buy appreciation, yet it is one of the most beautiful things in all the world to give.

ROTARY-KIWANIS BASEBALL GAME TO DECIDE QUESTION

What baseball teams that will face each other when the Rotary Club plays the Kiwanis Club at the Boy Scout diamond, Dods addition, Friday afternoon at five o'clock will, lack in quality of play they will make up in numbers.

Committees in charge of arrangements for each club have announced a list of embryo baseballers as long as an Arctic night to represent their clubs.

It is perhaps a good thing that the game will be played with an indoor baseball.

One Rotary club lineup announced contains the names of W. R. Harner, as catcher; John A. Nisbet, pitcher; D. W. Cherry or H. S. LeSourd, short stop; George R. Kelly, first base; Rev. V. F. Brown, second base; J. J. Stout, or C. S. Frazer, third base; C. E. Fisher, left field; C. A. Weaver right field; and F. L. Smith, center field.

The other lineup announced and which will probably have to do all the work, includes J. E. Kohl, or Schuyler McClellan, catcher; L. M. Nisbet, pitcher; Forest Hurley, short stop; J. E. Kelly or E. M. Woodward, first base; Dr. A. B. Kester, second base; John Baldwin or R. H. Kingsbury, third base; E. R. Bryant or Dr. R. K. Finley left field; C. W. Murphy, right field; and Dr. H. A. Hoffman, center field.

The Kiwanis committee has picked two teams besides substitutes. One team is composed of J. Walker Gihney, catcher; Dr. G. W. Kuhn, (capt.) pitcher; Dr. H. C. Messenger, first base; Steele Poague, second base; E. S. Davidson, third base; A. H. Dyer, short stop; S. M. McKay, right field; Elbert L. Babb, center field and the Rev. W. N. Tilford, left field. The other lineup will be S. O. Hale, catcher; Elwood Dunkie, pitcher; R. C. Hayward first base; J. K. Williamson, second base; Oliver Belden, third base; J. D. Adair, short stop; John Davidson right field; James Paullin, center field and E. S. Myers, left field.

The Kiwanis substitutes are T. H. Zell and Ralph Hall. Edwin Reutinger will umpire the game which will be free to the public. Boy Scouts will furnish water and other services for the players and the game will decide the baseball championship between the two clubs, a questionable honor annually striven for. Last year the Rotarians won.

XENIA POST SENDS DELEGATE TO G. A. R. MEETING MONDAY

J. H. McPherson, is the delegate from Lewis Post, G. A. R. to the annual encampment of the department of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic which opened in Columbus, Monday.

Although Lewis Post because of its membership is entitled to but one delegate, there will be several local members in attendance. Mr. McPherson went to Columbus Monday. H. H. Conklin, alternate, is also planning to attend and J. W. Hedges, Commander, is expected to attend the sessions Thursday. Several other members have taken out transportation.

The memorial presented by the Woman's Relief Corps of Ohio will be unveiled Tuesday and General Galord M. Saltzger, department commander of Ohio, will present the monument to Governor Donahay. It is expected that 10,000 visitors will be present.

FORMER OFFICIAL OF XENIA FEMALE SEMINARY DIES

Mrs. M. J. Dustin, 94, former preceptress of the Xenia Female Seminary, died Sunday at St. George, Ga.

Mrs. Dustin's maiden name was Warren and she was a descendant of the Warren, who fell at Bunker Hill. She was born in Massachusetts, June 4, 1829, and was educated in New England and became a teacher of the classics in schools for young women.

For several years Mrs. Dustin was preceptress of the Hillsboro Female College before coming to Xenia to fill the same position at the Xenia institution which was then flourishing. She was married to the Rev. J. M. Dustin of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1869 and resided in Dayton for several years.

Shortly after the death of the Rev. Dr. Dustin in 1896, Mrs. Dustin removed to Georgia, where she went to make her home with a brother, who then lived there. She was active in all religious and charitable organizations and until 20 years ago she was well known in Dayton and active in the Broadway Episcopal Church.

Judge C. W. Dustin, of Dayton is a step son and she leaves a niece, Mrs. Richard Harrison of Princeton, Ill. She will be buried in Cumminsville Cemetery near Cincinnati, the time to be announced later.

MASONS OBSERVE ST. JOHN'S DAY

Between fifty and sixty members of the local Masonic order, attended services at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, in observance of St. John's Day.

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor, gave a strong sermon, his subject being, "More Light." A large number of the congregation also attended the service, in addition to the Masonic body.

Rev. Tilford pointed out the difference between light and dark as interpreted by gospel writers, who used the term darkness to signify sin. There is nothing that can master real light, declared the pastor, in his appeal for the seeking of more light by everyone to the end that darkness or sin will be overcome in the striving for and reaching of the goal of Christianity.

STATE LEADERS TO MEET ADAMS IN POLITICAL CAUSE

Washington, June 25.—Republican National Chairman John T. Adams will leave tomorrow for Cincinnati, where the next of his nation-wide series of conference with state leaders and members of the national committee is scheduled to take place Thursday.

Wednesday noon Chairman Adams will be tendered a luncheon by the Hamilton County club, an old Republican organization in Cincinnati. The conference will be held Thursday morning, to be followed by another luncheon to the men and women participating in the meeting.

Invited to meet Mr. Adams are the national committeemen, state chairmen and women chairmen of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee. Matters relating to organization for the 1924 presidential campaign will be the exclusive topics of discussion, the chairman stated. Policies and issues, he declared, will be strictly taboo.

Included in these subjects is the granting to women of full and equal representation on the state and national committees and other branches of the Republican organization. Chairman Adams, after consultation with President Harding and many of the leaders on the national committee and in the party generally, already has determined that this recognition shall be extended to women.

Chairman Adams' ban on discussion of policies and issues in the formal conferences is not expected to prevent such discussion outside the meeting. Where politicians gather together in such numbers, views regarding prospects and the current factors contributing to the trend in the situation are bound to come. In this case there is little doubt that President Harding's swing across the continent and his speeches will come in for thorough discussion outside the council room.

When Chairman Adams departs from Cincinnati he undoubtedly will be fully acquainted with the views of the leaders of that part of the middle west, on the world court and other proposals advocated by the president on his western trip.

From Cincinnati Mr. Adams will go to Chicago, where he will discuss with the Illinois state chairman and others arrangements for the conference in Chicago, about July 12, with the party leaders of Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. Then the national chairman will go to his home in Iowa to spend the Fourth of July. While at home Chairman Adams will keep in touch with Governor Preus, the Republican senatorial candidate in the special Minnesota election on July 16, and render whatever assistance the national organization may be called upon to supply. The national committee already has extended some aid, Mr. Adams said, but the state committee has so well perfected its organization that it has not had to call for any material help from the outside.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MEET.

Columbus, June 25.—United Commercial Travelers are holding their national convention here this week. A feature will be the laying of the cornerstone of their new headquarters in North Park street. Frank J. Roeser, St. Louis, supreme counselor; W. J. Sullivan, Chicago, supreme junior counselor; C. V. Holderman, supreme past counselor, and Walter D. Murphy, Columbus, supreme secretary, will lay the cornerstone.

MOSES TO ASSIST PREUS' CAMPAIGN

Washington, June 25.—Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the national Republican senatorial committee, is personally handling the work of the national organization in connection with the Minnesota campaign. Chairman Adams is co-operating through Chairman Moses. The senator will leave for the scene of the conflict today. He said his purpose would be only to be on hand to help out and not direct in any sense; to receive orders from the state managers and see that they were carried out promptly and effectively. Senator Moses' chief task will be to arrange for speakers of national prominence to go into the state and urge Governor Preus' election to the United States senate. Preus' most formidable rival is Magnus Johnson, Farm-Labor candidate.

Styles BY LENORE

The ever-present panels of pleating contributed their charm to a fawn-colored frock of crepe de chine, which is smart for daytime wear in the city, with the accompanying pleated cape, and for a restaurant dinner and theatre when more formal clothes are not necessary.

The sleeves are mere caps. Which is but consistent with the tendency of the newest models for sleeveless effects. To complete the waistline there is only a simple belt of the same material, tying in a graceful bow at one side.

Flat roses of the same material on the collar of the cape give the French note to the costume and harmonize with the rest of the scheme.

ACTRESSES APPEAR WITH GILDED LEGS

Paris, June 25.—Although Filibert de Savoie, a rank outsider, won the grand prix, culminating event of the Parisian season, the principal interest of the huge crowd was the return of the golden calf. Summer suddenly appeared without warning and with it short organdie frocks with many and beautiful flowers. While the majority of women bowed to convention and wore ordinary silk stockings, Martha Redner and Nina Myrial, two of the most prominent actresses in Europe, created the sensation of the season by appearing with their legs carefully gilded, their knees glittering in the brilliant sunshine.

BORAH NOT TO RUN.

Spokane, Wash., June 25.—Senator William E. Borah announced here he would not be a presidential candidate and that he would not lead a third party. He expressed the opinion that President Harding will be nominated by acclamation in the Republican national convention, but said the Democratic situation in his opinion, was "perplexing." He mentioned William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith of New York, Henry Ford and Oscar Underwood as "likely Democratic nominees."

HEAVY WINDSTORM CAUSES DAMAGE TO FARMS ON SATURDAY

A reported cloudburst, and heavy windstorm, in the vicinity of the Zoar Neighborhood, Saturday evening, caused considerable damage, on surrounding farms.

Silos on the farm of T. E. Craig, and Bert Beam, were blown down, a wind pump on the Beam farm being also damaged. The storm, caused little damage to corn and wheat in the vicinity.

Rains of Saturday and Sunday afternoon brought relief from the intense heat which has gripped this section for several days. Although Xenia escaped the worst of the sharp electrical storms reported in other localities it was benefitted by cooler weather Monday.

RED CROSS TO HOLD CLINIC ON THURSDAY

Plans are being completed for the Red Cross clinic for the removal of tonsils and adenoids, to be held Thursday, June 28. The clinic will be the second of the tonsillectomy examinations and operations, conducted by the Red Cross, the first one being held last October.

Reservations are already made for children from Fairfield, Yellow Springs, Goes Station, Cedarville, Jamestown, New Jasper, Spring Valley, Ross Township, Beaver Creek Township, Cessacreek Township and Xenia.

The clinics are the result of school inspection work done throughout the county by the Red Cross Nurse, Miss Helen Evers. In the past school year, 1885 children have been inspected. Eight hundred and sixty-four had nasal obstruction, and 693 defective throats. Calls were made on the parents of many of the children. The amount of corrective work done throughout the county as a result of the school inspection, and follow-up calls on the parents, is most gratifying.

Several families requested permission to bring the children to the clinic, some children were referred by physicians and some were found by the Red Cross through the schools and some are children of exsoldiers.

LAD OF THREE KILLED.

Cleveland, June 25.—Swerving his machine from the middle of the street and over the curb in an effort to miss a boy playing in the street, a truck driver ran over and killed Henry Westlake, 3, who was standing on the sidewalk in front of his home.

GRANDCHILDREN GLADDEN AUTHOR

Elinor Glyn.

Elinor Glyn, famous novelist, said, in London, before departing for Los Angeles, where some of her stories will be filmed, that her proudest boast is that she has three grandchildren. "Please tell that to America," she added. Mrs. Glyn, asked for an opinion of the election of a former chorus girl to Parliament, said she liked the idea, provided stage stars can show their capacity, "but it takes many years for women to prove that they are equal to men in legislative and administrative efficiency." American flappers, she declared, will in time demonstrate that they have the "proper stuff."

PATIENTS RECEIVED AT ROTARY CLINIC

Six patients were received at the Rotary Club Crippled Children's Clinic, held at the Social Service League, Monday morning. The clinic was in charge of Dr. James Walker, of Dayton, assisted by Dr. R. Kent Finley, chairman of the local club crippled children's committee, and Dr. L. L. Taylor, Yellow Springs. The physicians were assisted by Mrs. M. R. Spodgrass, and Mrs. Harold Whittington.

An operation was recommended for one of the patients, while another boy was put in a cast, and treatment advised for four others. Two children who have previously been treated at the clinics, have shown remarkable improvement.

F. L. McDONALD IS CALLED BY DEATH

Frank L. McDonald, 50, superintendent of the Ohio Odd Fellows' Home, died Sunday afternoon, at the Springfield City Hospital. Death followed an operation for stomach trouble, which was performed Saturday morning.

McDonald went to Springfield, over four years ago to assume his work at the I. O. O. F. Home. He was born near Wilmington. He became superintendent of the Clinton County home, resigning his position there to go to Springfield. He is survived by his wife, two children, and a sister and brother.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

BOWERSVILLE TEAM WINS

Bowersville, after a late start, defeated Milledgeville to inaugurate the baseball season there Sunday, by the score of 5 to 2.

Shaw not only let the visitors down with six hits but contributed three hits himself. Bowersville plays the American Railway Express team of Washington C. H. at Bowersville next Sunday. Bowersville would like to book a home game for July 8 and to play away from home July 15. The score:

Bowersville 0 1 2 0 1 1 0 0 x 5 5 2

Batteries: Bowersville—Shaw and Murrell; Milledgeville—Burns, Palmer and Enowden.

DUE TO THE HEAT.

Gallipolis, O., June 25.—John Frazier, 25, world war veteran, a wireless operator, became insane on the street here and had to be handcuffed before being taken to a hospital. Physicians said his condition was due to the heat.

Can You Afford to Speculate?

For making a definite investing you are either speculating EVERY time you buy something.

Few people can afford to speculate. Yet many do it continually, in making their every-day purchases. And it is so unnecessary! The advertisements make it easy for any one to avoid taking a chance.

The merchant or manufacturer who advertises, realizes that the good-will of his customers means money in the bank to him. He knows that public confidence in his product and public respect for his own character are as valuable as his credit at the bank.

So he makes the individual satisfaction of his patrons, their loyalty and their friendship paramount issues in his business.

When you buy an advertised product, you can know in advance what to expect in return for your money. You can count on its being right. You are making an investment.

But when you buy nameless, unbranded merchandise, you are taking a chance. You are speculating.

NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE RUMORED

Adolph Joffe

Baron Goto

A new triple alliance of Russia, Japan and Germany is regarded by shrewd political observers as a possible outcome of a preliminary official conference to which the Japanese Government will invite Commissar Adolph Joffe, who was head of the Russian delegation to the Russian-Polish peace conference at Riga and who is Foreign Plenipotentiary of the Russian Soviet Government Japanese leaders, it is said, are building politically for the future in their negotiations with Russia and Germany.

The decision of the Japanese
Cabinet to confer with Joffe is regarded as a victory for Baron
Shimpei Goto, former Mayor of Tokio, who resigned that office in order to urge an economic conference and agreement with the Soviet.

SECRETARY DENBY TO MAKE ADDRESS IN DAYTON JULY 4

Dayton, June 25.—With a cordial invitation to the public it is expected that one of the largest crowds in the history of Dayton will be present on Wednesday, July 4, to participate in the celebration of Independence Day. The principal feature of the day will be an address by Hon. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, at the unveiling of a monument to the Spanish War veterans. This part of the program will be carried out in front of Memorial Hall, where the monument will remain permanently.

The most spectacular part of the program will be witnessed at McCook Field and at the Wilbur Wright field, where plans have been made for an unusual demonstration. At McCook Field, assurance is given by Major L. W. McIntosh, Commandant, of an aerial circus never surpassed at any aviation post in this country. For an hour the best aviators in the world will cavort like swallows in the sky. According to present plans, there will be no less than twenty airplanes in the sky at one time. There will be the usual stunt flying, including the nose-dive, loop-the-loop, and the barrel roll, which is the most hazardous of all.

After the McCook Field demonstration, Secretary Denby will be escorted to Wilbur Wright Field. Major A. W. Robbins, commander of that post, will have all the airplanes under his direction in the air at the same time. In addition to this, opportunity will be given to see the Barling bomber, which is the largest airplane in the world.

The Barling bomber, fully equipped, will weigh 41,000 pounds. It will carry 2,000 gallons of gasoline and for ordinary flying requires eight men. It consists of three planes, and is equipped with six motors, and have a maximum speed of 90 miles an hour.

Majors McIntosh and Robbins have extended a cordial invitation to every one to visit their respective fields on that date. There is no charge for admission, and automobile parties will be taken care of, as well as pedestrians. Major McIntosh said he will be prepared to accommodate a great crowd, while Major Robbins said that it makes no difference how large the crowd is at Wilbur Wright Field, all can be well taken care of.

OLD TOWN

Mr. Earl Becket and wife, Mrs. Minnie Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Castle were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Garrett, Sunday.

BAYLIFFS CALCIMINE VISITORS
By Wones	Ab	R	H
Outplaying the Medway Collegians in every department of the game, the Xenia Bayliffs had little trouble in handing a 10 to 0 defeat at Washington Park Sunday afternoon. The locals piled up nine runs in the first three innings by opportune hitting and good base-running, aided by the erratic fielding of the Collegians.	28	6	18

Willie McDonnell won his fourth game of the season and was a big factor in the victory. Willie twirled superbly. He walked four and fanned five; while he let the opposition down with but three measly hits. The Bayliffs came through with a brand of ball that was pleasing to the fans, making but two errors and hitting the horseshoe hard and often.	4	1	2
The widely heralded Haddix was on the rubber for the Medway outfit. Although he was not wild his curves were not a bit puzzling to the Bayliff batters who nipped him for nine safeties. Haddix walked two and whiffed three and his support was ragged.	4	0	0

The locals scored in the first frame after Tucker went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. F. Leahy beat Haddix's peg to first. Furnas hit to Schaur's who threw to second to catch Leahy but no one was there to receive the throw and Tucker and Leahy scored. Furnas going to second. Shuey grounded out, Furnas taking third, Bath sacrificed and Furnas crossed the platter with another marker. Early fanned.	2	1	3
The Bayliffs repeated in the second frame after Bayne had been thrown out at first by Schaur's. McDonnell walked. Tucker tripped to left and McDonnell scored. F. Leahy tripped to left scoring Tucker. Furnas sacrificed and Leahy scored. Shuey popped to Williams.	2	2	1

The electricians added three more markers in the third after Bath had grounded to J. Grimm. Leahy singled to center. Early beat Haddix's throw to first and Leahy went to second. Ubrigg pegged to third to catch Leahy but his throw was wild and Leahy scored. Early taking second. Bayne singled. Early going to third. McDonnell fanned. Tucker singled to left scoring Early and Bayne. F. Leahy was out Haddix to Ubrigg.	2	0	1
The locals made their last tally in	2	0	1

vey 1, Coates 1, Soddors 2, Shroades, Whittington 2, Fuller 2, Murrell 1. Double plays—Fuller to Houk to Whittington; Hit by pitched ball—by Foody (Soddors); bases on balls—of Foody 1; struck out by Foody 3. by Smith 5. Passed balls Soddors 1.

SHOES DEFEATED BINDERS.

Swatting the old agate hard and heavy in every session with the stick, the Xenia Shoes won an Industrial League game from the H. and A. Binders at Willow Tree Park Saturday afternoon by the score of 20 to 4.

Vicious hitting on the part of Schaw, Cain and Shaw, resulted in the overwhelming score. Glass and Dill were ineffective on the mound for the ropemakers and their offerings were warmly received by the shoemakers in practically every inning. The winners annexed seven runs in the first inning on three walks and hits by Schaw, Cain, Shaw and Scammahorn and from then were never headed.

The lineup: Shoes—Schaw c; Cain 1b; Brown 3b; L. Shaw ss; Anderson rf; Scammahorn cf; Haller 2b; Dudley-Sheets lf; J. Shaw p; Binders—Clarke ss; Dudley lf; Murray c; Dill, Glass 2b; Poole lf; Edwards cf; Van Ness rf; Mimia 3b; Glass, Dill p. The score: Shoes 20 4 0 4 0 2 1 x—20 12 1 Binders 3 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—4 11 2

RED SOX LOSE IN NINTH.

A two-try drive from the heavy ash of Nelson with two men on base in the last of the ninth inning decided Sunday's game at Dickerson Park in favor of the Dayton White Sox, the Xenia Red Sox losing by the count of 8 to 7.

Up until the final stanza Jones had the visitors eating out of his hand, but with a two-run lead in his favor, he let down slightly in the last frame, permitting the visitors two walks and three hits that cost him the game.

H. Shoecraft started on the mound for the visitors, but the Xenia outfit fell on him for five runs in the third and he was lifted in favor of Davis who held the locals helpless the rest of the game. Stout's two base crack, Porter's sacrifice fly, and singles by Anderson and Cunningham accounted for the locals' first two runs. The lineup: Dayton—Reed rf; Mitchell cf; Nelson lf; Rice ss; Webb 2b; Warner 3b; W. Shoecraft c; H. Shoecraft p; McGee 1b; Davis p; Fields cf; Xenia—Porter 3b; Peterman ss; Stout cf; Shoecraft lf; Anderson 2b; Cunningham lf; Lewis rf; Banner c; Jones p. The score: White Sox 0 3 0 1 0 0 1 0 2—8 14 3 Red Sox 0 2 5 0 0 0 0 0—5 9 5

RESERVES DEFEATED SUNDAY Crippled by the absence of four regulars, including Wical, the much touted Paintersville pitcher, the Xenia Reserves lost to the Dayton Foresters at Reserve Park Sunday afternoon 12 to 2.

Wical, Shadley, the short stop, left fielder Shaw and center fielder Haley failed to show up for the game without notifying Manager Chambliss that they would not be on hand. The unfortunates trick batted in the Reserves being weakened to the extent that they lost a contest they would have otherwise won.

Manager Chambliss started "Tad" Randall on the mound, but the red head was lifted after four innings of toiling and Pummell, of Dayton, took his place. Neither was effective, the lodgemen hitting hard and often to collect 14 safeties. G. Supenski pitched well for the visitors, letting the disheartened Reserves down with seven safeties.

C. Koester and Barlow led the visitors on attack and Emerick garnered a home run. Drummer and Emerick furnished the fielding thrills and J. Supenski offered a one-handed catch of the sensational order. Albert A. Horstman, of Dayton, won the prize offered, which was awarded in the fifth frame.

The Reserves will meet at the home of Manager Jess Chambliss Thursday evening. The lineup: Foresters—Muth, lf; Pfeffer, rf; Barlow, cf; Emerick, ss; J. Supenski, 2b; Drummer, 3b; A. Koester, 1b; C. ### AN UNWELCOME MEETING

Chapter XXX

Even with all her dread of gossip, Mrs. Crandell looked with equanimity upon Natalie's departure. She actively disliked her daughter-in-law, who, as far as she could see, had made no effort to please her, and who then had flouted her, demanding an apology. If Natalie remained away Horace could get a divorce after a time. She would have her son all to herself once more. Or, if he married again, she would be sure it was in his own set, a girl like Beverly Rainford.

The two days passed, and there was no word from Natalie, no sign to show where she had gone. Horace had looked over her things more thoroughly, yet could not conceive she meant to take nothing but that small trunk. Her expensive toilet articles, her fine lingerie, all were undisturbed. Her jewelry, too, all save her engagement and wedding rings, were in her jewel box. Surely she would either come or send for her clothes.

Crandell thought of her home—perhaps she had gone there. He hesitated at the thought. If she had not it would start inquiries perhaps. Inquiries neither he nor Natalie might desire. He called at Etta's, but as yet she had seen nothing of Natalie. The trunk was still in her little living room.

"She'll surely communicate with you," Horace told Etta. "Please call my office as soon as you hear." But Etta gave no promise.

Horace was bewildered, anxious, hurt. Not yet did he realize that Natalie had any real cause to take so serious a step. That he had quarreled bitterly, he had said cruel, cutting things, but so had she. Other married people had occasional disagreements, without either going to such extremes. He had demanded she apologize to his mother, had punished her for refusing. But in that Horace still felt he was right. His mother was old, and was—his mother. Then too, Natalie had not gone because of that—or she would left at once after the incident.

He wondered if she had any money. Her checkbook and bankbook were in her desk drawer, neatly held together with a rubber band. She had a considerable balance, she could easily get another checkbook, draw money. Yet some way Horace felt she wouldn't. That she had meant him to understand she wouldn't be leaving her checkbook.

Did Craig Harper know where she was? Horace had put this thought from him when it first occurred. Natalie was foolish, unused to the ways of the world, but she wasn't bad. Horace would stake his life on that. Yet as the days passed, a whole week, the thought haunted him. He met Craig on the street, and his first remark showed he was innocent of any knowledge of Natalie.

"Is Mrs. Crandell ill, Horace?" he asked. "She deserted me shamefully the second day of the fair. I called the house, but your mother sent word

Nat—Mrs. Crandell was out. I have meant to call her and tell she disappointed me terribly by not appearing. She was a great drawing card for the booth."

"My wife is away for a visit," Horace said coolly and passed on, soundly comforted. In spite of their quarrel over Craig Harper, he knew nothing of her.

Natalie came and went from her dingy boarding house room to the office with no fear of meeting Horace. He always motored and she used the subway. Her greatest fear was that he might come to the office and by some inadvertence see her, or find she was there. This fact worried her. She had made up her mind she would never return to him, her anger and resentment still hot within her. A night she sat alone in her poor room brooding, yet she was scarcely more alone than she had been in his luxurious home, she thought with a curious flip.

"Girls think if they have money and all the things money gives, they will be happy," she mused. "What fools we are. I'm happier now, will be when I get used to being poor again than ever I was there, even with all Horace gave me."

And during the day, kept occupied by the onrush of work in the bus offices, Natalie did have a certain happiness. She had no time to brood, to think of her own affairs. But in the long evenings, the longer nights when often she could not sleep, she sometimes had to lash herself with the memory of Horace's cruel words, his mother's cool ignoring of her to keep herself from crying because of the longing for Horace. She didn't deny to herself that she still cared for him, argued the longing and pain would cease after a time.

Then one day Natalie met Craig Harper. He was gazing incredulously at her. He could hardly believe the plainly dressed girl, carrying the paper parcel, could be the fashionable gowned girl he knew as Horace Crandell's wife. Natalie tried to hurry on to pretend she had not seen him. But he hurried to her, took her arm, and began to talk volubly.

To Be Continued

BABE EATS "SPITFIRE."

Youngstown, O., June 25.—Marie Follen, 8 months' old, died of convulsions after eating a pyrotechnic commonly called "spitfire." She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Follen, who recently came here from Buffalo.

POLICEMEN HELD.

Newark, O., June 25.—Howard Williams and Vincent Holl, Newark policemen, were held to the grand jury in Mayor White's court in Hebron. They are charged with having shot at Joe Criss several nights ago, while the latter was riding in an automobile on a country road west of here.

U. S. TO PUT DEFENSE PLAN INTO EXECUTION

IMPREGNABILITY OF THIS NATION IS NOW CERTAIN

Pershing Perfects Plan to Safeguard Nation in Case of Attack

TO BE USED SOON

Barbed Wire Barricade Laid Down in Surf Said Practical

Washington, June 25.—A plan for American mobilization and defense has been perfected by General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the army, which "assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination," it was learned here today.

This plan, approved by Secretary of War Weeks, will be ready to be put into execution with the completion of this summer's training of national guardsmen and civilians at the summer camps.

General Pershing's defense project provides for complete protection of the American coasts and border frontiers, and there is no possible landing point or line of advance that has been overlooked.

Each of the divisions of the regular army, each of the national guard regiments, together with certain special units of the organized reserve, has been assigned to the defense of specific sectors of the coast and border lines; transportation conditions have been studied carefully in order that there will be no delay in rushing the troops to their positions, and every eventuality has been met in detailed manner.

One of the most unique features of the Pershing plan is in connection with the coastal defense. It is planned, and has been proven practical, to lay down a barbed wire barricade in the surf to assist in the repulsion and confusion of attempted landing parties. Should it become necessary, a wire entanglement similar to those employed on the battle fields of France could be thrown up around virtually the entire country.

"With such initial organization assured," General Pershing explained, "the additional military units required for the full prosecution of a serious war can be mobilized at once and brought to full strength without disturbance or interruption. With our territory thus protected against landings in force at the start, and with the machinery for further military expansion fully organized, our fleet will be free to deal with the hostile naval forces without concern as to possible invasion."

Behind this first line of defense, Pershing plans to mobilize and train the "citizen army" which is now receiving in the summer camps the rudiments of soldiering.

"We shall thus be able to deliberately develop our military power to any necessary extent without risk of serious disaster through surprise at the outbreak of the war," he said, "and without the necessity of maintaining a burdensome military establishment in time of peace. Such a military organization causes no menace to any other nation, but assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination."

Need for such an establishment was demonstrated strikingly during the World War, General Pershing declared.

STATUE CAUSE OF $200,000 SUIT

Mrs. Charles U. Lind.

Mrs. Charles U. Lind, 20 and pretty, is preparing to sue Stirling Calder, New York sculptor, for $200,000. She alleges that after she posed for a sculptured study of her head and shoulders Calder attached to the head a nude figure, posed for by another model, and exhibited it. Her husband saw it, believed she had posed in the nude, left her and has refused to be reconciled.

RUM SHIP TAKEN AFTER LONG CHASE

New York, June 25.—Laying three shots from her three-pound guns across the bow of the Mary E. Gully, a former submarine chaser, the United States coast guard Seminole early today captured the rum runner after a 10-mile chase off the New Jersey shore.

The Seminole, it was reported at the United States custom office, was bringing her prize to port. The Mary E. Gully has 1,500 cases of Scotch whiskey valued at $155,000 aboard, it was stated by revenue agents.

HARDING ASKED TO BE MEMBER OF AUTO PARTY THAT ENDED IN DEATH

President Declined to Accept Invitation for Trip Which Cost Lives of Three Persons in Canyon in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., June 25.—The enthusiastic reception which Denver accorded President Harding was saddened today by an auto accident in which members of his party figured at Bear Creek canyon.

The death toll of the accident was increased to three this morning when Thomas Dawson, former secretary of the United States Senate, died from his injuries in Denver county jail.

Summer Curtis, representative of the Republican national committee on the trip and Thomas A. French of Denver, were killed outright. Donald Craig, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, was severely injured, but will recover, it was said at the hospital this morning.

Both the President and Mrs. Harding were shocked at the tragedy and there was an air of sadness over the entire Alaskan party today.

NERVY WOMAN ROUTS TRIO OF BANDITS IN KENTUCKY INN

Cincinnati, O., June 25.—One nervy woman yesterday routed three men who tried to hold up the Kentucky inn, a road house a mile from Newport, Ky.

Of fifteen persons in the place, she alone retained composure. The trio of invaders entered with drawn automatics, commanding all to lift their hands. Miss Pearl Hageman, cashier of the inn, was behind a counter on which rested the cash register. She was ordered to open it and turn the contents over to the leader of the bandits.

Instead of leaping to comply she moved slowly toward the register. This wasted time of the trio and made the bandits nervous. When she reached the drawer she concealed the money in her clothing, defiantly glaring at the pistol pointed at her.

This unexpected move unnerved the bandits, one of whom fired a shot at the bartender, who also was behind the counter. The realizing that the shot would bring help to the cashier, the trio fled, escaping in a car.

Only a small sum was in the register, Miss Hageman said.

U. S. DRY AGENTS ARE FACED WITH SECOND PROBLEM

Five "Wet" Foreign Liners Dock in New York With Liquor Stores

"MEDICINAL SUPPLIES"

Vessels Claim Booze Not Beverage—Officials to Seize Stocks.

Washington, June 25.—To expedite the seizure of beverage liquor being brought into New York and other American ports in violation of the national prohibition act, officers of the United States Public Health service today received orders to obtain sworn statements from commanders of ships as to the medicinal liquor requirements of their respective countries.

These new instructions were required according to Dr. Mark White, acting surgeon general of the public health service, because of difficulties, especially at New York, of prescribing the exact amount of liquor stores which vessels may retain for medicinal purposes.

New York, June 25.—Dry forces faced a new problem today as five "wet" foreign liners, their stocks of whiskey, wine, gin and beer under homeland seals, docked here. Four of the five listed the vast stores of liquor aboard as "additional medicinal supplies."

The White Star liner Cedrio, the Cunarder Caronia, the Conte Verde of the Lloyd-Sabaudo line, and the French liner Providence, carried over 10,000 gallons of wine, 15,000 bottles of beer, 400 gallons of whiskey, and an assortment of 400 bottles of liquors.

The French liner Paris which docked Saturday, had the greatest amount on board—10,000 gallons of various liquors. This was listed as "beverage supply" and was admittedly for consumption by passengers on the return trip.

Customs officials, prohibition agents and the surgeon general's force will seize at least part of this supply today, it was announced. The same action as taken against the Berengaria and the Baltic, raided by dry agents Saturday, will be followed.

But in the case of the other ships, listing their sealed supply as "additional medicinal stores," the prohibition officers were admittedly puzzled. No action was to be taken, it was stated, until instructions were received from Washington.

The President had been invited to go on the same auto trip which ended so tragically, but had declined. Examination of the wrecked machine led to belief that a broken steering knuckle was responsible for the machine's suddenly veering off the road and crashing 75 feet into a rock strewn canyon.

ANOTHER BROKERAGE FIRM CRASHES IN NEW YORK MONDAY

Einstein Ward and Company In Hands of Receiver

New York, June 25.—Another brokerage firm—Einstein Ward and Company, crashed into bankruptcy today when a receiver was appointed under $10,000 bond.

Announcement that the company had failed to meet their financial obligation was made upon the floor of the stock exchange immediately after the opening of the trading this morning.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed against the firm Saturday. Today Federal Judge Knox appointed W. C. Fitts, receiver.

The firm was a member of the stock exchange.

WOMAN DENIES SHE KILLED MAN

New York, June 25.—Between sobs, Anna Buzzi swore on the witness stand in the Bronx Supreme Court this afternoon that she did not kill Frederick Schneider, wealthy contractor with whom she had lived for eight years. There was a dramatic scene as her husband, whom she is alleged to have abandoned for Schneider, eight years ago, confronted her in court.

L. A. BOULAY TO FOLLOW HERRICK IN HIGHWAY JOB

Toledo Engineer Named By Governor to Fill State Position July 1

WORLD WAR VETERAN

New Highway Director Will Move to Columbus When Duties Begin

Columbus, O., June 25.—L. A. Boulay, 45, consulting president of the Boulay-Harrison Company, Toledo, has been appointed state director of highways and public works by Governor Donahay to succeed Leon C. Herrick, Republican holdover incumbent, effective July 1.

Mr. Boulay is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World Wars, holding the rank of captain of engineers in the last war. He has been actively engaged in engineering for 25 years and has had practical experience in the Philippines, China, Mexico and Cuba. He has been located in Toledo since 1907, and for the past six years has been head of his own firm of consulting civil and sanitary engineers.

Mr. Boulay took a two-year course in engineering at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., dropping his studies before graduation to enter the Spanish-American war.

The new highway director is married, and will move to Columbus when he assumes his duties.

FORMER PREMIER OF ENGLAND WARNS OF WRONG COURSE

Feeling Tense Following Seizure of British Ships' Liquor Stores

London, June 25.—"The British government does not see any grounds for protest against the breaking of British customs seals upon liquor taken into American ports on English ships," Premier Stanley Baldwin announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

"The acts were legal within United States territorial waters."

London, June 25.—The seizure of liquor on two British ships in New York has dwarfed in interest everything else here.

The "safe and sane" newspapers, like the Daily News, insists that the crisis regarding rum can only become serious, if it unfortunately does, through unnecessary and unwise talk. But even the News admits that the problem is not simple as a real conflict of rights is involved. The News adds: "The taking into America of forbidden liquor under the valueless protection of British seals is really so dangerous it should be minimized immediately, as it is always on frontiers that wars begin."

Former Premier Lloyd George, in a speech before the Welsh Baptists here, said:

"I hope we will be able to keep cool over the question of the seizure of liquor from our ships in New York, in which matter America is entirely within her rights. We ought to extend our sympathy to America. She is fighting one of the greatest curses of civilization. Such an experiment as she is making has never before been attempted on this earth. We should give her a fair chance to solve this urgent problem of the world."

"One of America's chief difficulties is presented by the enormous quantities of liquor which is being poured surreptitiously into the country from Europe. There is no doubt that big fortunes are being made out of smuggling drink into the United States. The Americans are a great and courageous people. Let us not interfere with them. If they succeed they will earn the gratitude of the world."

"I felt bound to make these remarks because I have noticed in the press signs of heat in connection with the matter. I do not say that America's experiment will succeed. It is quite possible that the United States will modify the law if it finds it necessary, but do not let us interfere with America in enforcing a law passed by a greater majority than was given to almost any other law passed by any country. I have only discussed this question to help counteract the mischief which some people are trying to make."

CARS GO THROUGH A TRESTLE

Sidney, O., June 25.—Henry Snyder, 40, married, of Lima, was crushed to death and two other men injured, one seriously, when a cut of cars loaded with dirt crashed through a trestle at the southern end of the city.

PROHIBITION HAS COME TO STAY SAYS HARDING IN DENVER SPEECH

THE PRESIDENT ON PROHIBITION

Denver, Colo., June 25.—Here are the high lights in President Harding's remarks here today on the prohibition situation:

They are a small and mistaken minority who believe the eighteenth amendment will ever be repealed.

The country and the nation will not allow the law of the land to be made a byword.

It is not an issue between wets and dries but an issue whether the laws of this country can and will be enforced.

It is a curious illustration of loose thinking that some have proposed as a means of protecting states rights that the states should abandon their part in enforcing the prohibition policy.

When a state deliberately refuses the powers which the constitution confers on it, it obviously nullifies state authority.

The new nullificationists will discover that they have perpetrated one of the historic blunders in political management.

Universal prohibition would occasion far less discontent than partial prohibition. Neither of the parties will see the time in the lives of any who are now voting citizens when it will declare openly for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The question is kept in politics because of the almost fanatical urgency of the minority of extremists on both sides.

PRESIDENT IN FORCEFUL TALK ATTACKS ISSUE

Chief Executive Wades Into Question Monday Without Gloves

NO WET PLANK

Replies In Hot Manner to Governor Al Smith of New York

Denver, Colo., June 25.—President Harding waded into the prohibition situation without gloves here today and in by far the most forceful speech he has ever delivered on this controversial subject, he declared that prohibition in the United States has come to stay, that people might as well make up their minds to it and that it is up to the individual states and local authorities to enforce it.

If the states fail in this moral and constitutional duty to the federal government, he warned, then the government, at great expense will be compelled to create a national police authority that in the end will severely injure state sovereignty and eventually menace the well being of the republic.

SERVES NOTICE.

Moreover he served notice on the wets within his own party that there would be no wet plank in the Republican platform next year and he predicted also that there will be none in the Democratic platform.

"I venture to predict," said Mr. Harding, "that neither of the great parties will see the time, within the lives of any who are now voting citizens, when it will declare openly for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. I am convinced, too, that whatever changes may be made (in the Volstead law) will represent the sincere purpose of effective enforcement," rather than moderation of the general policy."

The President replied in hot fashion to Governor Al Smith of New York, whose approval of the repeal state enforcement law in New York, was based primarily upon the sovereign rights of an individual state to co-operate with the government or not as it chose.

Instead of upholding state rights, Mr. Harding declared, such action represented "complete negation of state rights."

LOOSE THINKING.

"It is a curious illustration of loose thinking," said the President, mentioning no names, "that some people have proposed as a means to protecting the fullest rights of the states, that the states should abandon their part in enforcing prohibition."

"That means simply an invitation to the federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the state."

"Instead of being an assertion of state rights, it is an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it doesn't choose to govern itself, but prefer to turn the task or a considerable part of it to federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights."

DENIES CONTENTION.

President Harding flatly denied the contention advanced by Governor Smith and a few other state executives, that responsibility for enforcing the Volstead law rests with Washington.

"The fact is quite the contrary," Mr. Harding asserted. "The federal government is not equipped with the instrumentalities to make enforcement locally effective. It does not maintain either a police or a judicial establishment adequate or designed for such a task."

"The federal government ought to perform only those functions in connection with enforcements which are within its proper province, the president said. He enumerated the duties of the federal government as: supervising international commerce, importation and exportation of liquors, collection of federal revenue and prevention of smuggling. But the business of local enforcement, he insisted, belongs to the state and local authorities and should be executed by them in the same sincerity and good faith that all other laws are enforced."

SUPPORT OF POLICY.

The national policy ought to be supported by public opinion and the administrative machinery of the whole country," he continued.

"The country and the nation will not permit the law of the land to become a byword."

"The issue is fast becoming recognized," he went on, "not as an issue between wets and dries, not a question between those who believe in prohibition and those who do not; a contention between those who drink and those who do not; it is fast becoming raised above all that, to recognition of an issue of whether the laws of this country can and will be enforced."

FAMOUS ILLUSTRATOR SECRETLY MARRIED

A few years ago an unknown young woman came out of the West and in a few months was America's foremost illustrator—Miss Neyssa Moran McMeel. Everyone thought the comely young artist was wedded to her art, and it was the occasion of a distinct surprise when it was learned she had secretly married John D. Baragwanath, a New York consulting engineer, and gone to Europe on her honeymoon—alone, to be followed later by her husband.

LIVE WIRE KILLS COLUMBUS MAN

Columbus, O., June 25.—Charles Chapman, 21, was instantly killed last night when he stepped on the end of a live wire that had blown down earlier in the evening during a severe storm.

Chapman had been calling on his fiancée, Miss Maxine Goodwin, 19, to talk over plans for their wedding, which was to have been today. As he was leaving, he noticed a tiny fire a few feet away. He stepped over to stamp it out. A moment later he was dead.

STAGE GUN BATTLE ON STATE HIGHWAY

Cleveland, June 25.—A thrilling 50-mile-an-hour gun battle between motor cycle cops and alleged Cleveland gun men on the crowded Lorain-Elvira road resulted in three arrests today.

Clarence Lane, 23, wounded three times, John Delmar, 23, and Howard Lane, 26, are in custody.

The trio were suspected of auto theft. Overhauled, the officer, it was charged was fired on. A passing tourist opened fire on the motorcycle policeman's assailants.

They escaped but were taken later.

LAD OF THREE KILLED.

Cleveland, June 25.—Swerving his machine from the middle of the street and over the curb in an effort to miss a boy playing in the street, a truck driver ran over and killed Henry Westlake, 3, who was standing on the sidewalk in front of his home.

PLAN ERECTION OF $100,000 ALUMNI HALL AT ANTIOCH

Preliminary plans for the erection of the new $100,000 Alumni Hall, at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, were announced by President Arthur E. Morgan, presiding at a meeting of the board of trustees of the college, Saturday afternoon. President Morgan gave a short address, and reported that $15,000 for financing the new building, had already been raised, and that the additional amount will be obtained by an alumni campaign.

"The alumni association, which is sponsoring the erection of the new building, is not anxious for so many large sums, but desires many smaller contributions, from many people, interested in the college," President Morgan said.

John H. Hunt, of the General Motors Corporation, Moraine City division was elected a member of the board of trustees, during the meeting. He will succeed Frank Vanderlip, of New York, who resigned his membership on account of ill health. Mr. Vanderlip had been a member of the board for the past two years.

Among the trustees in attendance at the meeting were Jerome Green, New York; Henry Dennison, Framingham, Mass.; S. C. Caldwell, Columbus; Frank Stutz, J. C. Haswell, William Christ, of Dayton; George Little, Xenia; J. Warren Keifer, Springfield; William Dawson, Yellow Springs; and President Morgan.

Edwin Day, a New York member of the board, was unable to attend the meeting, as he was the principal speaker at the annual Phi Beta Kappa fraternity ceremonies at Columbia University, Saturday.

MRS. OSCAR NAGLEY DIES ON SUNDAY

Estella Florence Nagley, wife of Oscar Nagley, died at her home, 327 East Third Street, Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Death was caused by tuberculosis.

Mrs. Nagley would have been 33 years of age, July 8. She had been ill since September 1922.

Surviving are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumgardner, Xenia; one sister, Mrs. Alma Marshall, near Xenia, and five brothers, all of Dayton.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, in charge of the Rev. G. A. Scott, pastor of the First M. E. Church. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

His Confession Solves Mysterious Murder

Charles W. Clepper, of Los Angeles, has confessed the murder of Frank W. Bradley, whose bullet-riddled body was taken to the Police Receiving Hospital there by C. W. Dickson, of Fresno, California. Clepper declared he fired in self defense.

SNAP SHOTS

Charles E. Ashburner, city manager of Norfolk, Va., and the first man to hold that position in the United States, resigned to accept the city managership of Stockton, Cal., at a salary of $20,000 a year.

Manitoba voted in favor of government sale of liquor by a majority of 30,000.

CAPTURES CROCODILE WITH HANDS

Attacked by a voracious crocodile, more than five feet in length, Karl P. Schmidt, of the Zoological Staff of the Field Museum, at Chicago, captured the monster with his hands on a recent expedition to Honduras. The man-eater caught Schmidt off guard, but the latter remembered an old trick and thrust one thumb and index finger into the monster's eyes, holding him in that way until his shouts brought assistance. Schmidt confessed later that he could not have held out much longer.

flavored and sweet-juice vegetables such as peas, carrots, beets, greens and asparagus. They need no sauces.

The White-Fleshed Fish, however, need rich butter and oil sauces to make them tempting. The best known of this variety are the flounder, pike, cod, hake, turbot, perch pollack, striped bass; red snapper, haddock, halibut and whitefish. These are called "lean" and "dry-meated" fish, and they have their fat secreted in the liver. All strong-juiced or acid-flavored vegetables are suitable to serve with them—such as tomatoes, onions, cucumber, green pepper, dandelion greens and chives.

Of course these suggestions are not fixed dietetic laws. If you wish to serve one of the milder flavored vegetables with a white-fleshed fish, you can supply the acid or piquant flavor with a fruit salad or fruit dessert.

It is a deplorable fact that the average family is not fond of fish. On Fridays such a family will eat it—but on other days of the week meat is preferred.

And I must confess that I am among this majority who prefer meat to fish! Yet, for reasons of economy, I believe that we should eat fish at least twice a week. Many varieties of fish are cheaper than our favorite meats. We should therefore, be glad to eat fish often, rather than only on Fridays.

In summertime, especially, it is wise for us to eat plenty of fish. For in hot weather we do not need the heavy, red-blooded meats; our stomachs are working under the handicap of exhausting atmospheric heat, and they can more easily digest the simple fish.

Although here are 40 commonly known varieties of edible fish, the average housekeeper is familiar with only a few. This is doubtless because her local market carries only a few kinds (for in different parts of the country, different kinds of fish are plentiful). Almost all of us, however, are familiar with the following kinds:

The Dark-Fleshed Fish—These are known as the oily-meated fish. They have a rich flavor, for the fat is distributed through the flesh. The best known of this variety are the bluefish, mackerel, shad, salmon, herring, swordfish and sable fish. Because of their own rich flavor, they need very little seasoning (except salt, butter and pepper), and they are best served with the mildly

Dr. Marion Lawrance Given Degree of Ll. D. By Antioch

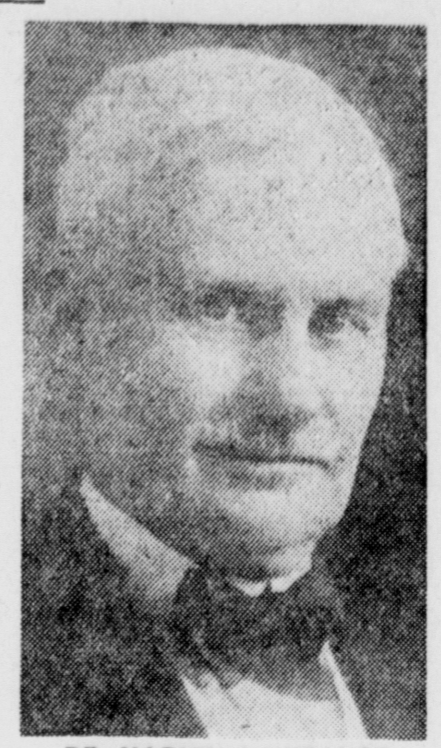

Dr. Marion Lawrance of Chicago, consulting general secretary of the International Sunday School Association, a former Yellow Springs resident and former Antioch College student was the recipient Saturday of the first honorary degree conferred by that College since the introduction of the new plan of education there.

At commencement exercises Saturday morning, when 18 students were given their degrees, President Arthur A. Morgan, conferred the first honorary degree of L.L.D. upon Dr. Lawrance. He is an internationally known Sunday school worker, a former teacher as well as former student at Antioch, and was for more than 20 years general secretary of the International Sunday School Association until his retirement on full pay in 1920.

Dr. Lawrance was born in Gratis, Preble County, Ohio, October 2, 1859, the son of Elmonson Lawrance who moved his family to Yellow Springs in January 1854 the year after Antioch had been started by Horace Mann. Mr. Lawrance came there to open the college book store. The building was then in its infancy and Mr. Lawrance was forced to move shocks of wheat in a field to build his home. This building, a two story brick residence, still stands at Davis and High streets in Yellow Springs.

Six sons and two daughters composed the family. Four of the older boys served in the Civil War and five of them attended the college, although only one, William, graduated. Marion Lawrance attended the public schools of the village and graduated from the high school under Captain William Shaw. He attended Antioch, preparatory and college department four years and during that time taught various classes including arithmetic, grammar and Latin in order to pay his tuition. He was forced to give up his college work because of falling health.

When he became of age, Mr. Law-

rance entered business in Syracuse, N. Y., where he remained for two years. He removed to Toledo in 1887 and continued in business for a time. Becoming interested in Sunday School work he became the superintendent of a successful Sunday School in Toledo and held the position or 31 years. During that time the school increased from 150 to about 1,500 in membership. Dr. Lawrance was called to be general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association in 1889 and held the position ten years. In 1899 he was made general secretary of the International Sunday School Association covering North America. He held this position until 1920 when he was retired for life on full salary to the position of consulting general secretary and a younger man, Dr. Hugh S. Magill, was selected in his place. From 1910 to 14, Dr. Lawrance was also one of the secretaries of the World's Association in conjunction with his work in North America.

Dr. Lawrance has been a world traveler, having visited repeatedly every state in the union, every province in Canada, Cuba, Mexico, New Foundland and Alaska. He has also attended World's Conventions in London, Jerusalem, Rome, Zurich and Tokio and is expected to attend the next World's convention in Scotland, next June. He is the author of a number of books on Sunday School work that have had wide circulation.

will be the summer guest of relatives in Mandale, Ohio.

Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Williams and Attorney W. B. Bush all of Cincinnati, were visitors Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. General Mosby and attended the commencement exercises at Wilberforce.

The Edith Randolph Prayer Circle will meet with Mrs. Farrell, 518 E. Church street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All are invited.

Master Cornelius Young is a visitor at the home of Mrs. Anra Jones on the Jamestown pike.

Bishop I. N. Ross and Rev. Dr. H. Y. Arnett were guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Young.

EAST END NEWS

Little Mattie Ann Thomas of East Main Street left Wednesday morning for Ft. Wayne, Ind., to spend her vacation months with her aunt, Mrs. James Winn. While away she will visit in Chicago, with relatives.

Mr. Melvin Lucas left for his home in Fort Wayne after being a guest of his mother-in-law Mrs. Matthew Payns of East Main Street for a few days.

Mrs. Mary Long returned to her home in Cleveland after being the guest of friends here since the Wilberforce commencement.

Mrs. Bessie Ervin of Richmond, K., who is a teacher in the public schools there is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of Columbus Ave. She will attend the summer school at Wilberforce University.

Mr. Wilbur Ellis and two children of Columbus were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orange Ellison Sunday. The children will spend their vacation here.

We Announce—with Pride—Paige and Jewett Motor Cars!

The Ideal Paige Is Your Ideal Car!

The new, six-cylinder, 70-horsepower Paige for 1923 is incomparably beautiful, powerful and well-appointed. Bodies are creations of ultra-fine coachwork; doubly braced; ruggedly and dependably built. Not a piece of imitation leather anywhere. Rich in the small touches of big appeal. Commodious to an extreme. Throughout the car are superior chassis features hitherto exclusive to European custom practice.

In performance the ideal Paige equals every expectation. Reserve power makes you master of every situation. Swing from 2 to 70 miles per hour in high gear. Laugh at traffic. In emergency, shift gears swiftly as your hand can move; you cannot "jerk" or "clash," however inexperience. Drop from high to second at 30 miles per hour, if you wish.

A new automatic take-up for silent motor driving chains postpones adjustment indefinitely. New-type, all-steel universal joints have oil-tight, sealed-in lubrication, good for 15,000 miles. High-pressure oiling insures an ever-silent, sweet-running motor.

The new Paige is thoughtfully outfitted for utter convenience—nothing to buy but fuel and oil. Read the equipment listed at left of illustration. All instruments grouped under glass panel on walnut dash. Walnut steering wheel with finger controls. Complete from stop-light to tire-pump. Don't fail to see the Paige for yourself.

Both Paige and Jewett are breaking all previous sales-records. They are doing it on sheer extra value and merit. Come in and see the line before you buy, and rest your case on facts of performance!

LADY ASTOR OPPOSES IDEA OF WOMAN-GOVERNED WORLD.

"I can conceive of nothing worse than a man-governed world—except a woman-governed world," said Lady Astor, the first woman to sit in the Mother of Parliaments, in epitomizing the part which women should play in public affairs.

Here is no feminist—that is, no advocate of petticoat rule. American by birth and English by adoption, Lady Astor's position among the public women of the world is absolutely unique. There is no other woman just like her in England and one would search in vain among the women in public life in the United States to find her counterpart. Nor does her personality suggest her origin in Virginia, where she was one of the famous Langhorne sisters. She seems to be like no one except herself.

But she is all-American and her Americanisms often make her English sisters gasp. Nevertheless her quick wit and sharp retorts have helped her out of more than one difficult situation, particularly in her election campaigns when her meetings have been packed with hostile hecklers.

"Say, Lady Astor, how many toes has a pig?" shouted one of these hecklers in a packed meeting down in Plymouth last fall.

"Take off your shoes and I'll tell you," was the reply which her interrogator received.

"You ought to be home with your hands in the washtub, same as my wife," said another heckler, hands in his pockets, and very conspicuous.

"Take your hands out of your pockets and go to work and your wife can take her hands out of the washtub," retorted the fraill, little woman on the platform.

There is character, conscience and common sense back of every position Lady Astor takes in English politics. She cherishes no notion that women should rule the British Empire, but she does feel that women can co-operate more actively in public affairs.

"First of all," she said, talking about the need of women in politics, "there is the fact that we find ourselves in a rather lopsided world, considerably overbalanced on the man's side. We have, therefore, to work for the political, economic and social equality of men and women, for equal opportunities and equal pay, for equal rights as parents, for equal status before the law, and so on. Many women have given devoted service to those objects, and I feel that all of us owe a great debt of gratitude to them."

ALASKA BY RAIL.

The last spikes are being driven in the railway from Seward to Fairbanks in Alaska. The line is nearly 500 miles long, and it pierces the heart of the great Northland, whose future looks brighter today than at any previous time in its history. Passengers this summer will be carried "peacefully sleeping and unaware" where the pioneers traveled and men gave their lives to the ever-beckoning lure of gold and furs at "the back of beyond." Little will the newcomer in the land know of the struggle of those primitive days. But at least he can carry back to civilization a truthful impression of what he has seen.

Alaska is about to have the most distinguished "tourist" the territory has entertained, in the person of the President. His findings are of the utmost importance to that sustained and systematic development which Governor Bone with such clear, persuasive eloquence has urged. Elaborate entertainment is far less important than an opportunity for the President to go to the bottom of things and to see for himself. It is high time for our great country to adopt a policy broad and big enough to be worthy of our magnificent possessions in sub-Arctic America. The manifest destiny of our mainland is intimately concerned in what we do with Alaska.

ETNA.

The alarming outbreak of Mount Etna, which has expelled thousands of villagers from the homes and the vineyards whence they wrested a living from the flank of the volcano, has offered the world a fine example of human sympathy and fraternal co-operation. Instead of running about in frantic circles with outcries of impotent despair, the folk of the region have taken in hand systematically the administration of relief to the horde of refugees.

The dwellers on the slopes of Etna know well, from historic experience, the precarious terms of their tenure of the rich lands below the rim of that great ebullient cauldron. That does not make eviction any more tolerable when it comes. The margin is very narrow between subsistence and absolute destitution for many of the hard-working, thrifty and self-respectful people of Sicily; and in a few hours the fire-mountain can destroy the fruits of a lifetime of unremitting toil.

But after the harsh experience social history will repeat itself. As the French farmers gradually found their way back to their own hectares and reaped again where war had sowed the dragon's teeth, even so the Sicilians will pluckily resume the struggle for existence almost before the grotesque, infernal writhing of the lava flow is stilled. In the unending warfare of man with nature the last word is not, as it seems, with the inscrutable, impersonal forces.

The Neff park at Yellow Springs was crowded Sunday to hear "Little Elsie" the famous impersonator of characters. Other attractions every Sunday are scheduled for the park until the season closes.

T. L. T.—Thomson's "The Castle of Indolence" contains the lines you ask for:

A pleasing land of drowsy had it was,
Of dreams that wave before the half-shut eye;
And of gay castles in the clouds that pass,
Forever flushing round a summer sky;
There eke the soft delights that witchingly
Instill a wanton sweetness through the breast,
And the calm pleasures always hover'd nigh;
But whate'er smacked of noyance and unrest
Was far, far off expelled from this delicious nest.

PROHIB—An ordinary half-pint bottle of soft drink contains usually about from .4 to .9 of an ounce of sugar, or about two heaped teaspoonfuls.

DELTA—I think we quoted these lines before. They are from Browning's "Apparent Failure" and ran thus:

It's wiser being good than bad;
It's safer being meek than fierce,
It's sifter being sane than mad.
My own hope is, a sun will pierce
The thickest cloud earth ever stretched;
That after last returned the first,
Tough a wide compass round be fetched;
That what began can't end worst,
Nor what God blessed once prove accursed.

INQUISITIVE—The phrase "To Cross the Rubicon" meaning to take an important action in such a way as not to be able to retrace your steps, refers to the Rubicon, a narrow river which in ancient times formed the border line between Italy and the province of Gaul. When in the course of Caesar's campaigns, after long hesitation, and after having been advised against it by some of his generals, he nevertheless crossed the Rubicon into Italy, he became a "public enemy," and this event act, made his long-cherished plans of conquest known to the world.

B. L. T.—The term "To Curry Favor" meaning to seek the good graces of another by flattery or other means, has its origin in the "currying" of a horse. "Favel" was at one time a general name for a horse. This common name was derived from the French "faveau" the color of chestnut. Originally, "to curry Favel" well, was the groom's sure means of earning the praise and approbation of the master. The theory has also been advanced that the word "Favel" itself have been corrupted into "favor" by a later generation which no longer understood its real meaning.

OIL THE SCALP

If when you massage the scalp vigorously, a small amount of minute white flakes fall from the hair you may be sure you have dandruff. The flakes are often so fine as to be almost invisible and a good way to tell is to shake the hair over a piece of black paper, which will clearly show up whatever falls. In the early dandruff stage, the hair will be normal but later it will become too greasy, and still later, too dry. Start curing dandruff before either of these catastrophes occur.

You must oil the scalp. It is the only way I know to rid yourself of dandruff and to keep it away. Of course, certain fargone or stubborn cases may require special antiseptic ointments, or strong measures. Some recommend covering the scalp with a solution containing iodine. Some use carbolic, mixed with other things, but these treatments are only to be given by experts. Try nothing yourself that you do not understand.

..In any case, try home-done oil treatments; if after a few months there is no improvement, then go to an expert. But, first of all, buy some crude oil at a drug store or a paint shop—thick black, unrefined oil. Heat it as hot as your scalp will stand and massage a lot of it in thoroughly. Next day, shampoo with liquid castile soap and quantities of hot water until the oil is washed out. Repeat this process every three weeks.

Meantime, rub a very little olive or castor oil into the scalp every day or so. Never mind the greasy appearance of the hair. You must sacrifice fluffiness for a few weeks. The sacrifice is more than worth while. After the second crude oil shampoo, use olive or castor oil twice a week; after the third time, once a week until cured.

GETTING THINGS FOR NOTHING

The more one has done for him the less is he capable of doing for himself.

The boy who works in his youth will work in his manhood. The more civilized society becomes the less independent it is. That is one of the penalties of civilization.

In the olden days—before there were many doctors and dentists around, people had strong teeth and they digested their food because they chewed it. But with the oncoming of easy cooking has come easy eating—and hurried eating.

The hardy pioneer asked odds of no one. His intrepid spirit knew no failure. He asked the price of success and achievement—and then he paid it—many times with his very life.

This is a favored age. We are getting things for nothing. We have books in readable type. We turn a button, or push one, and light floods our room. We step into a compartment and there is our motor car. We press a button there and in a few moments we are on our way to work miles away—arriving in a few minutes of time. We cross the continent and the ocean in a few days. Our towns and cities are made light and conveniences are on every hand. There are few of the beauties of the world which are not free to us. We start out life itself with an abundance of wealth. But we have so much more if we have had privilege of being born under circumstances where there have those to teach and train our eye see the things which are ours nothing.

Our fondest treasures are those that have come to us through the expenditure of much money. You cannot buy appreciation, yet it is one of the most beautiful things in all the world to give.

ROTARY-KIWANIS BASEBALL GAME TO DECIDE QUESTION

What baseball teams that will face each other when the Rotary Club plays the Kiwanis Club at the Boy Scout diamond, Dods addition, Friday afternoon at five o'clock will, lack in quality of play they will make up in numbers.

Committees in charge of arrangements for each club have announced a list of embryo baseballers as long as an Arctic night to represent their clubs.

It is perhaps a good thing that the game will be played with an indoor baseball.

One Rotary club lineup announced contains the names of W. R. Harner, as catcher; John A. Nisbet, pitcher; D. W. Cherry or H. S. LeSourd, short stop; George R. Kelly, first base; Rev. V. F. Brown, second base; J. J. Stout, or C. S. Frazer, third base; C. E. Fisher, left field; C. A. Weaver right field; and F. L. Smith, center field.

The other lineup announced and which will probably have to do all the work, includes J. E. Kohl, or Schuyler McClellan, catcher; L. M. Nisbet, pitcher; Forest Hurley, short stop; J. E. Kelly or E. M. Woodward, first base; Dr. A. B. Kester, second base; John Baldwin or R. H. Kingsbury, third base; E. R. Bryant or Dr. R. K. Finley left field; C. W. Murphy, right field; and Dr. H. A. Hoffman, center field.

The Kiwanis committee has picked two teams besides substitutes. One team is composed of J. Walker Gibney, catcher; Dr. G. W. Kuhn, (capt.) pitcher; Dr. H. C. Messenger, first base; Steele Poague, second base; E. S. Davidson, third base; A. H. Dyer, short stop; S. M. McKay, right field; Elbert L. Babb, center field and the Rev. W. N. Tilford, left field. The other lineup will be S. O. Hale, catcher; Elwood Dunkle, pitcher; R. C. Hayward first base; J. K. Williamson, second base; Oliver Belden, third base; J. D. Adair, short stop; John Davidson right field; James Paulin, center field and E. S. Myers, left field.

The Kiwanis substitutes are T. H. Zell and Ralph Hall. Edwin Reutinger will umpire the game which will be free to the public. Boy Scouts will furnish water and other services for the players and the game will decide the baseball championship between the two clubs, a questionable honor annually striven for. Last year the Rotarians won.

FORMER OFFICIAL OF XENIA FEMALE SEMINARY DIES

Mrs. M. J. Dustin, 94, former preceptress of the Xenia Female Seminary, died Sunday at St. George, Ga.

Mrs. Dustin's maiden name was Warren and she was a descendant of the Warren, who fell at Bunker Hill. She was born in Massachusetts, June 4, 1829, and was educated in New England and became a teacher of the classics in schools for young women.

For several years Mrs. Dustin was preceptress of the Hillsboro Female College before coming to Xenia to fill the same position at the Xenia institution which was then flourishing. She was married to the Rev. J. M. Dustin of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1869 and resided in Dayton for several years.

Shortly after the death of the Rev. Dr. Dustin in 1896, Mrs. Dustin removed to Georgia, where she went to make her home with a brother, who then lived there. She was active in all religious and charitable organizations and until 20 years ago she was well known in Dayton and active in the Broadway Episcopal Church.

Judge C. W. Dustin, of Dayton is a step son and she leaves a niece, Mrs. Richard Harrison of Princeton, Ill. She will be buried in Cumminsville Cemetery near Cincinnati, the time to be announced later.

MASONS OBSERVE ST. JOHN'S DAY

Between fifty and sixty members of the local Masonic order, attended services at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, in observance of St. John's Day.

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor, gave a strong sermon, his subject being, "More Light." A large number of the congregation also attended the service, in addition to the Masonic body.

Rev. Tilford pointed out the difference between light and dark as interpreted by gospel writers, who used the term darkness to signify sin. There is nothing that can master real light, declared the pastor, in his appeal for the seeking of more light by everyone to the end that darkness or sin will be overcome in the striving for and reaching of the goal of Christianity.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN "L" ACCIDENT

New York, June 25.—Five persons were killed and at least forty injured when two cars of the Fifth Avenue elevated line of the B. R. T. jumped the rails and crashed to the street at Atlantic and Flatbush avenues, Brooklyn.

The train was bound from Brooklyn to Manhattan. Ambulances were immediately summoned from all nearby hospitals. Calls for help were sent to police and fire stations. Defective coupling was said to be the cause of the accident. The cars crashed to the street, filled with passengers.

STATE LEADERS TO MEET ADAMS IN POLITICAL CAUSE

Washington, June 25.—Republican National Chairman John T. Adams will leave tomorrow for Cincinnati, where the next of his nation-wide series of conference with state leaders and members of the national committee is scheduled to take place Thursday.

Wednesday noon Chairman Adams will be tendered a luncheon by the Hamilton County club, an old Republican organization in Cincinnati. The conference will be held Thursday morning, to be followed by another luncheon to the men and women participating in the meeting.

Invited to meet Mr. Adams are the national committeemen, state chairmen and women chairmen of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee. Matters relating to organization for the 1924 presidential campaign will be the exclusive topics of discussion, the chairman stated. Policies and issues, he declared, will be strictly taboo.

Included in these subjects is the granting to women of full and equal representation on the state and national committees and other branches of the Republican organization. Chairman Adams, after consultation with President Harding and many of the leaders on the national committee, and in the party generally, already has determined that this recognition shall be extended to women.

Chairman Adams' ban on discussion of policies and issues in the formal conferences is not expected to prevent such discussion outside the meeting. Where politicians gather together in such numbers, views regarding prospects and the current factors contributing to the trend in the situation are bound to come. In this case there is little doubt that President Harding's swing across the continent and his speeches will come in for thorough discussion outside the council room.

When Chairman Adams departs from Cincinnati he undoubtedly will be fully acquainted with the views of the leaders of that part of the middle west on the world court and other proposals advocated by the president on his western trip.

From Cincinnati Mr. Adams will go to Chicago, where he will discuss with the Illinois state chairman and others arrangements for the conference in Chicago, about July 12, with the party leaders of Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. Then the national chairman will go to his home in Iowa to spend the Fourth of July. While at home Chairman Adams will keep in touch with Governor Preus, the Republican senatorial candidate in the special Minnesota election on July 16, and render whatever assistance the national organization may be called upon to supply. The national committee already has extended some aid, Mr. Adams said, but the state committee has so well perfected its organization that it has not had to call for any material help from the outside.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MEET.

Columbus, June 25.—United Commercial Travelers are holding their national convention here this week. A feature will be the laying of the cornerstone of their new headquarters in North Park street. Frank J. Roeder, St. Louis, supreme counselor; W. J. Sullivan, Chicago, supreme junior counselor; C. V. Holderman, supreme past counselor, and Walter D. Murphy, Columbus, supreme secretary, will lay the cornerstone.

JESSICA BROWN MAY WED IN CANADA

Jessica Brown

This is the latest photograph of beautiful Jessica Brown, New York dancer, who is engaged to marry the youthful Scottish Earl of Northesk, formerly an officer in the Coldstream Guards. The Earl is in America for the wedding, but the couple has been refused a marriage license in New York, following the declaration of Cyril de Witt Reinhard, her former husband, that her divorce is not legal. It is now reported they will go to Canada for the wedding.

MOSES TO ASSIST PREUS' CAMPAIGN

Washington, June 25.—Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the national Republican senatorial committee, is personally handling the work of the national organization in connection with the Minnesota campaign. Chairman Adams is co-operating through Chairman Moses. The senator will leave for the scene of the conflict today. He said his purpose would be only to be on hand to help out and not direct in any sense; to receive orders from the state managers and see that they were carried out promptly and effectively. Senator Moses' chief task will be to arrange for speakers of national prominence to go into the state and urge Governor Preus' election to the United States senate. Preus' most formidable rival is Magnus Johnson, Farm-Labor candidate.

HEAVY WINDSTORM CAUSES DAMAGE TO FARMS ON SATURDAY

A reported cloudburst, and heavy windstorm, in the vicinity of the Zoar Neighborhood, Saturday evening, caused considerable damage, on surrounding farms.

Silos on the farm of T. E. Craig, and Bert Beam, were blown down, a wind pump on the Beam farm being also damaged. The storm, caused little damage to corn and wheat in the vicinity.

Rains of Saturday and Sunday afternoon brought relief from the intense heat which has gripped this section for several days. Although Xenia escaped the worst of the sharp electrical storms reported in other localities it was benefitted by cooler weather Monday.

RED CROSS TO HOLD CLINIC ON THURSDAY

Plans are being completed for the Red Cross clinic for the removal of tonsils and adenoids, to be held Thursday, June 28. The clinic will be the second of the tonsilectomy examinations and operations, conducted by the Red Cross, the first one being held last October.

Reservations are already made for children from Fairfield, Yellow Springs, Goes Station, Cedarville, Jamestown, New Jasper, Spring Valley, Ross Township, Beaver Creek Township, Caesar Creek Township and Xenia.

The clinics are the result of school inspection work done throughout the county by the Red Cross Nurse, Miss Helen Evers. In the past school year, 1885 children have been inspected. Eight hundred and sixty-four had nasal obstruction, and 693 defective throats. Calls were made on the parents of many of the children. The amount of corrective work, done throughout the county as a result of the school inspection, and follow-up calls on the parents, is most gratifying.

Several families requested permission to bring the children to the clinic, some children were referred by physicians and some were found by the Red Cross through the schools and some are children of ex-soldiers.

LAD OF THREE KILLED.

Cleveland, June 25.—Swerving his machine from the middle of the street and over the curb in an effort to miss a boy playing in the street, a truck driver ran over and killed Henry Westlake, 3, who was standing on the sidewalk in front of his home.

GRANDCHILDREN GLADDEN AUTHOR

Elinor Glyn

Elinor Glyn, famous novelist, said, in London, before departing for Los Angeles, where some of her stories will be filmed, that her proudest boast is that she has three grandchildren. "Please tell that to America," she added. Mrs. Glyn, asked for an opinion of the election of a former chorus girl to Parliament, said she liked the idea, provided stage stars can show their capacity, "but it takes many years for women to prove that they are equal to men in legislative and administrative efficiency." American flappers, she declared, will in time demonstrate that they have the "proper stuff."

PATIENTS RECEIVED AT ROTARY CLINIC

Six patients were received at the Rotary Club Crippled Children's Clinic, held at the Social Service League, Monday morning. The clinic was in charge of Dr. James Walker, of Dayton, assisted by Dr. R. Kent Finley, chairman of the local club crippled children's committee, and Dr. L. L. Taylor, Yellow Springs. The physicians were assisted by Mrs. M. R. Spodgrass, and Mrs. Harold Whittington.

An operation was recommended for one of the patients, while another boy was put in a cast, and treatment advised for four others. Two children who have previously been treated at the clinics, have shown remarkable improvement.

F. L. McDONALD IS CALLED BY DEATH

Frank L. McDonald, 50, superintendent of the Ohio Odd Fellows' Home, died Sunday afternoon, at the Springfield City Hospital. Death followed an operation for stomach trouble, which was performed Saturday morning.

McDonald went to Springfield, over four years ago to assume his work at the I. O. O. F. Home. He was born near Wilmington. He became superintendent of the Clinton County home, resigning his position there to go to Springfield. He is survived by his wife, two children, and a sister and brother.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

BOWERSVILLE TEAM WINS

Bowersville, after a late start, defeated Milledgeville to inaugurate the baseball season there Sunday, by the score of 5 to 2.

Shaw not only let the visitors down with six hits but contributed three hits himself. Bowersville plays the American Railway Express team of Washington C. H. at Bowersville next Sunday. Bowersville would like to book a home game for July 15, and to play away from home July 15. The score:

Bowersville 0 1 2 0 1 1 0 0 x 5 5 2
Batteries: Bowersville—Shaw and Murrell; Milledgeville—Burns, Palmer and Enowden.

DUE TO THE HEAT.

Gallipolis, O., June 25.—John Frazier, 25, world war veteran, a wireless operator, became insane on the street here and had to be handcuffed before being taken to a hospital. Physicians said his condition was due to the heat.

Mrs. Youngblood Out with Facts in Case

Declares Tanlac Restored Her When She Had Complete Breakdown and Nothing Else Would Help Ended Indigestion Entirely, She States.

"Tanlac has done me so much good during the past two years that I can't help but praise it," says Mrs. C. N. Youngblood, 207 Houston St., Maessillon, Ohio. "Without it I simply could not have withstood the awful sickness and complications I have endured. I had awful attacks of nervousness and dizziness, and would break down completely, and Tanlac is the only medicine I have ever found that would relieve me of those spells."

"My stomach was weak and disordered also, but thanks to Tanlac, I never have the least trouble from indigestion now, and as for my appetite, the medicine gave me such a good one I am always eager for mealtime to come."

"My husband took the treatment as a tonic and thinks it's great just like everyone else I ever heard speak of it."

"I can assure weak, nervous, run-down people that Tanlac is the one medicine that will help them."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere. adv

GIRL SWIMMERS BALKED ABROAD

Helen Wainwright, Gertrude Ederle, Aileen Riggan

Misses Helen Wainwright, Gertrude Ederle and Aileen Riggan, America's foremost girl swimmers, have returned from England, where they were to have completed in British swimming meets against the nation's best. They were prevented from participating by the British Amateur Athletic Union, officials of which agreed with the ruling of the American Athletic Union against allowing United States athletes to compete abroad before the next Olympic meet. The girls—who came back with monodies, by the way—plan to continue their fight against what they deem autocratic assumption of power by the A. A. U.

dinner and theatre when more formal clothes are not necessary.

The sleeves are mere caps. Which is but consistent with the tendency of the newest models for sleeveless effects. To complete the waistline there is only a simple belt of the same material, tying in a graceful bow at one side.

Flat roses of the same material on the collar of the cape give the French note to the costume and harmonize with the rest of the scheme.

ACTRESSES APPEAR WITH GILDED LEGS

Paris, June 25.—Although Filibert de Savoie, a rank outsider, won the grand prix, culminating event of the Parisian season, the principal interest of the huge crowd was the return of the golden calf. Summer suddenly appeared without warning and with it short organdie frocks with many and beautiful flowers. While the majority of women bowed to convention and wore ordinary silk stockings, Marthe Redner and Nina Myrial, two of the most prominent actresses in Europe, created the sensation of the season by appearing with their legs carefully gilded, their knees glittering in the brilliant sunshine.

BORAH NOT TO RUN.

Spokane, Wash., June 25.—Senator William E. Borah announced here he would not be a presidential candidate and that he would not lead a third party. He expressed the opinion that President Harding will be nominated by acclamation in the Republican national convention, but said the Democratic situation, in his opinion, was "perplexing." He mentioned William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith of New York, Henry Ford and Oscar Underwood as "likely Democratic nominees."

Can You Afford to Speculate?

For making a definite investing you are either speculating EVERY time you buy somettment.

Few people can afford to speculate. Yet many do it continually, in making their every-day purchases. And it is so unnecessary! The advertisements make it easy for any one to avoid taking a chance.

The merchant or manufacturer who advertises, realizes that the good-will of his customers means money in the bank to him. He knows that public confidence in his product and public respect for his own character are as valuable as his credit at the bank.

So he makes the individual satisfaction of his patrons, their loyalty and their friendship paramount issues in his business.

When you buy an advertised product, you can know in advance what to expect in return for your money. You can count on its being right. You are making an investment.

But when you buy nameless, unbranded merchandise, you are taking a chance. You are speculating.

NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE RUMORED

A new triple alliance of Russia, Japan and Germany is being built, it is said, for the future in their negotiations with Russia and Germany. The decision of the Japanese Cabinet to confer with Joffe is regarded as a victory for Baron Shimpel Goto, former Mayor of Tokyo, who resigned that office in order to urge an economic conference and agreement with the Soviet.

SECRETARY DENBY TO MAKE ADDRESS IN DAYTON JULY 4

Dayton, June 25.—With a cordial invitation to the public it is expected that one of the largest crowds in the history of Dayton will be present on Wednesday, July 4, to participate in the celebration of Independence Day. The principal feature of the day will be an address by Hon. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, at the unveiling of a monument to the Spanish War veterans. This part of the program will be carried out in front of Memorial Hall, where the monument will remain permanently.

The most spectacular part of the program will be witnessed at McCook Field and at the Wilbur Wright field, where plans have been made for an unusual demonstration. At McCook Field, assurance is given by Major L. W. McIntosh, Commandant, of an aerial circus never surpassed at any aviation post in this country. For an hour the best aviators in the world will cavort like swallows in the sky. According to present plans, there will be no less than twenty airplanes in the sky at one time. There will be the usual stunt flying, including the nose dive, loop-the-loop, and the barrel roll, which is the most hazardous of all.

After the McCook Field demonstration, Secretary Denby will be escorted to Wilbur Wright Field, Major A. W. Robbins, commander of that post, will have all the airplanes under his direction in the air at the same time. In addition to this, opportunity will be given to see the Barling bomber, which is the largest airplane in the world.

The Barling bomber, fully equipped, will weigh 41,000 pounds. It will carry 2,000 gallons of gasoline and for ordinary flying requires eight men. It consists of three planes, will be equipped with six motors, and have a maximum speed of 90 miles an hour. Major McIntosh and Robbins have extended a cordial invitation to everyone to visit their respective fields on that date. There is no charge for admission, and automobile parties will be taken care of, as well as pedestrians. Major McIntosh said that he will be prepared to accommodate a great crowd, while Major Robbins said that it makes no difference how large the crowd is at Wilbur Wright Field, all can be well taken care of.

BAYLIFFS CALCIMINE VISITORS By Wones. Outplaying the Medway Collegians in every department of the game, the Xenia Bayliffs had little trouble in handling a 10 to 0 defeat at Washington Park Sunday afternoon. The locals piled up nine runs in the first three innings by opportune hitting and good baserunning, aided by the erratic fielding of the Collegians.

Willie McDonnell won his fourth game of the season and was a big factor in the victory. Willie twirled superb ball. He walked four and fanned five; while he let the opposition down with three measly hits. The Bayliffs came through with a brand of ball that was pleasing to the fans, making but two errors and hitting the horseshoe hard and often.

The widely heralded Haddix was on the rubber for the Medway outfit. Although he was not wild his curves were not a bit puzzling to the Bayliff batters who nicked him for nine safeties. Haddix walked two and whiffed three and his support was ragged.

The locals scored in the first frame after Tucker went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. F. Leahy beat Haddix's pop to second to catch Schaub's pop to second to catch Leahy but no one was there to receive the throw and Tucker and Leahy scored. Furnas going to second. Shuey grounded out, Furnas taking third, Rath sacrificed and Furnas crossed the platter with another marker. Early fanned.

SHOES DEFEATED BINDERS.

Swatting the old agate hard and heavy in every session with the stick, the Xenia Shoes won an Industrial League game from the H. and A. Binders at Willow Tree Park Saturday afternoon by the score of 20 to 4.

Vicious hitting on the part of Schwab, Cain and Shaw, resulted in the overwhelming score. Glass and Dill were ineffective on the mound for the ropemakers and their offerings were warmly received by the shoemakers in practically every inning. The winners annexed seven runs in the first inning on three walks and hits by Schwab, Cain, Shaw and Scammarhorn and from then were never headed.

RED SOX LOSE IN NINTH.

A two-ply drive from the heavy ash of Nelson with two men on base in the last of the ninth inning decided Sunday's game at Dickerson Park in favor of the Dayton White Sox, the Xenia Red Sox losing by the count of 8 to 7.

Up until the final stanza Jones had the visitors eating out of his hand, but with a two-run lead in his favor, he let down slightly in the last frame, permitting the visitors to walk and three hits that cost him the game. H. Shoecraft started on the mound for the visitors, but the Xenia outfit fell on him for five runs in the third and he was lifted in favor of Davis who held the locals helpless the rest of the game. Stout's two base crack, Porter's sacrifice fly, and singles by Anderson and Cunnigan accounted for the locals' first two runs. RESERVES DEFEATED SUNDAY Crippled by the absence of four regulars, including Vical, the much touted Faintersville pitcher, the Xenia Reserves lost to the Dayton Foresters at Reserve Park Sunday afternoon 12 to 2.

Wical, Shadley, the short stop, left fielder Shaw and center fielder Haley failed to show up for the game without notifying Manager Chambliss that they would not be on hand. The unfortunates were weakened to the extent that they lost a contest they would have otherwise won.

Manager Chambliss started "Tad" Randall on the mound, but the red head was lifted after four innings of tolling and Pummell, of Dayton, took his place. Neither was effective, 11 lodgements hitting hard and often to collect 14 safeties. G. Supenski pitched well for the visitors, letting the disheartened Reserves down 11 with seven safeties.

C. Koester and Barlow led the visitors on attack and Emerick garnered a home run, Drummer and Emerick furnished the fielding thrills and J. Supenski offered a one-handed catch of the sensational order. Albert A. Horstman, of Dayton, won the prize offered, which was awarded in the fifth frame.

The Blue Hearts staged their two run rally in the first of the seventh and the scoring was over. The score: Blue Hearts 29 7 7 21 13 4 Pan Handles 1 2 0 0 1 0 2 7

Railroaders beat Blue Hearts

A last-minute rally that netted two runs fell one run short of tying the count and resulted in the H. and A. Blue Hearts losing to the Pennsylvania Railroad Pan Handles at Washington Park Saturday afternoon 7 to 6, in an Industrial League game.

The railroaders piled up an impressive lead in the early innings that forced the ropemakers to fight an uphill battle all the way. Their struggle put them within three runs of knotting the count when they entered seventh inning and scored two counters, one shy of the desired number.

Footy for the railroaders and Smith for the Blue Hearts both pitched steadily but the fielding on both sides was erratic. The Blue Hearts drew first blood in the first stanza. Howell popped to Footy, Finney singled but was forced at second by Robnett. The latter stole second and in an attempt to pilfer third, Robnett threw wild to third, Robinette scoring. Yeakley whiffed.

The railroaders made two in their half. Shroades singled and stole second, but was stoned out trying to steal third. Houk fanned. Whittington was safe when Howell dropped his fly and stole second, whence he scored on Fuller's double. Fuller stole third and scored on Murrell's tap by beating the throw. Noville popped out for the final.

The Blue Hearts added two in the second. Harvey singled and stole but was forced at third by Haughey, the latter taking second. Coates singled and stole second, Haughey was tossed out at the plate on Sodders' tap. Smith doubled scoring Coates and Sodders. Howell popped to Fuller. The railmen scored four in their half. Shaffer was safe on Yeakley's error. Higley popped to Pinnel, but Footy singled. Shroades singled scoring Shaffer. Houk popped to Plancy, but Whittington doubled to right scoring Footy and Shroades. Whittington stole third and scored on Sodder's wild throw. Fuller was out at first unassisted.

The railroaders annexed another in the fourth. Footy singled. Shroades fanned, but Houk singled sending Footy to second. He took third on a passed ball and beat the throw to the plate on Whittington's roller. The Blue Hearts scored once in the fifth, Sodders getting a life on Fuller's error, stealing second, taking third on Smith's out and scored on Houk's wild peg to get him after Howell's out.

The Blue Hearts staged their two run rally in the first of the seventh and the scoring was over. The score: Blue Hearts 29 7 7 21 13 4 Pan Handles 1 2 0 0 1 0 2 7

THE MISFIT By Jane Phelps

AN UNWELCOME MEETING Chapter XXX

Even with all her dread of gossip, Mrs. Crandell looked with equanimity upon Natalie's departure. She actively disliked her daughter-in-law, who, as far as she could see, had made no effort to please her, and who then had flouted her, demanding an apology. If Natalie remained away Horace could get a divorce after a time. She would have her son all to herself once more. Or, if he married again, she would be sure it was in his own set, a girl like Beverly Rainsford.

The two days passed, and there was no word from Natalie, no sign to show where she had gone. Horace had looked over her things more thoroughly, yet could not conceive she would take nothing but that small trunk. Her expensive toilet articles, her fine lingerie, all were undisturbed. Her jewelry, too, all save her engagement and wedding rings, were in her jewel box. Surely she would either come or send for her clothes.

Crandell thought of her home—perhaps she had gone there. He hesitated at the thought. If she had not it would start inquiries perhaps, inquiries neither he nor Natalie might desire. He called at Etta's, but as yet she had seen nothing of Natalie. The trunk was still in her little living room.

"She'll surely communicate with you," Horace told Etta. "Please call my office as soon as you hear." But Etta gave no promise.

Horace was bewildered, anxious, hurt. Not yet did he realize that Natalie had any real cause to take so serious a step. They had quarreled bitterly, he had said cruel, cutting things, but so had she. Other married people had occasional disagreements, without either going to such extremes. He had demanded she apologize to his mother, had punished her for refusing. But in that Horace still felt he was right. His mother was old, and was his mother. Then too, Natalie had not gone because of that—or she would left at once after the incident.

He wondered if she had any money. Her checkbook and bankbook were in her desk drawer, neatly held together with a rubber band. She had a considerable balance, she could easily get another checkbook, draw money. Yet some way Horace felt she wouldn't. That she had meant him to understand she wouldn't by leaving her checkbook.

Did Craig Harper know where she was? Horace had put this thought from him when it first occurred. Natalie was foolish, unused to the ways of the world, but she wasn't bad. Horace would stake his life on that. Yet as the days passed, a whole week, the thought haunted him. He met Craig on the street, and his first remark showed he was innocent of any knowledge of Natalie.

"Is Mrs. Crandell ill, Horace?" he asked. "She deserted me shamefully the second day of the fair. I called the house, but your mother sent word

Nat—Mrs. Crandell was out. I have meant to call her and tell she disappointed me terribly by not appearing. She was a great drawing card for the booth."

"My wife is away for a visit," Horace said coolly and passed on some way comforted. In spite of their quarrel over Craig Harper, he knew nothing of her.

Natalie came and went from her dingy boarding house room to the office with no fear of meeting Horace. He always motored and she used the subway. Her greatest fear was that he might come to the office and by some inadvertence see her, or find she was there. This fact worried her. She had made up her mind she would never return to him, her anger and resentment still hot within her. A night she sat alone in her poor room brooding, yet she was secretly more alone than she had been in his luxurious home, she thought with a curious flip.

"Girls think if they have money and all the things money gives, they will be happy," she mused. "What fools we are. I'm happier now, will be when I get used to being poor again than ever I was there, even with all Horace gave me."

And during the day, kept occupied by the onrush of work in the bus offices, Natalie did have a certain happiness. She had no time to brood, to think of her own affairs. But in the long evenings, the longer nights when often she could not sleep, she sometimes had to lash herself with the memory of Horace's cruel words, his mother's cool ignoring of her to keep herself from crying because of the longing for Horace. She didn't deny to herself that she still cared for him, argued the longing and pain would cease after a time.

Then one day Natalie met Craig Harper. He was gazing incredulously at her. He could hardly believe that the plainly dressed girl, carrying a paper parcel, could be the fashionable gown girl he knew as Horace Crandell's wife. Natalie tried to hurry on to pretend she had not seen him. But he hurried to her, took her arm, and began to talk volubly.
